Justice Dep't to Oppose Appeal by Senecas

LABOR BILL AMENDMENT IS ADOPTED

By JOE HALL
WASHINGTON (AP)—The 47-46 victory in adding a major provision to the Kennedy labor bill strengthened today the drive of senators seeking further restriction on the power of union leaders.
By the one-vote margin, the Senate wrote into the bill a requirement that union constitutions and by-laws must contain a series of provisions designed to assure the rights of individual members. It sets up criminal penalties for any union leader violating those rights.
The Senate takes up today an amendment by Sen. Barry Goldwater R-Ariz designed to assure that each labor group as Teamsters Union conferences are covered by provisions of the bill.
The amendment adopted Wednesday was sponsored by Sen. John L. McClellan D-Ark, who called it a bill of rights for labor. Among other things it would guarantee union members freedom of speech and equal voting rights, and require membership approval of any dues increase.
The vote on the amendment was a setback for Sen. John F. Kennedy D-Mass, who has been argued from the start that any major floor change in his measure would endanger its chances of getting through Congress.
Kennedy said the amendment was poorly drawn and would mean "the federal government's reaching its hands into the internal affairs of unions in a completely unnecessary way."
But McClellan insisted his amendment would give needed protection to union members against thugs, racketeers and power-hungry leaders who, he said, were infiltrating more and more unions.
As it was, a coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats put over the amendment. Voting for it were 32 Republicans and 15 Democrats, 13 of them Southerners. Opposed were 44 Democrats and 2 Republicans.
Kennedy told newsmen there was no practical way in his opinion to reconsider the vote. He said some further moves on the matter might be possible later. But that he planned none.

Highway Safety Booked for Top Priority in the House After Tax Issue Is Settled

By FRED B. WALTERS
HARRISBURG (AP)—Highway safety will get top priority in the House after the tax battle ends, the House majority leader said today.
Rep. Stephen McCann (D-Greene) at the same time predicted another tough fight on the highway program.
"There are about four bills we could pass without any trouble," he said, "such things as (regulation of) brake linings and fluids, and requiring trucks to go down hill in reduced gear."
"But on others—like the point system, radar—I don't know whether we can pass them. We're split all over the place on both sides."
The Republican House minority repeatedly has needed McCann, serving his first term as floor leader, on the absence of any major legislation (besides taxes) during the session's first months.
He has maintained that taxes should be dispensed with first before any other controversial programs are brought to the floor.
On the other hand, under McCann's leadership, House committees have been clearing their agendas of much of the minor legislation that in past sessions has been dumped on a groggy Legislature in the hurry-burly of the adjournment rush.
"Under that system," McCann said, "we never really had a chance to study these bills, to see that they were drawn properly. By working on them early we can take our time and give them proper study."
Three House committees have scheduled public hearings next month on three of the more important items in the legislative hopper: Air pollution, boating regulations and housing discrimination.
The air pollution bill comes under scrutiny May 5 before the game and conservation committee headed by Rep. Harris G. Breth (D-Clearfield). It was sent to this committee because Breth was on a Joint State Government Commission subcommittee which studied the problem.
The controversy over the air pollution bill centers on location of the control: At the county, regional or state level. As written, the bill would leave enforcement to the State Health Department. The prospect is that the control will be given to the counties, with provisions for intercounty cooperation on mutual pollution problems. The state's role would be an advisory one.
The boating regulations—line line with a new federal law requiring all boats to be registered—comes up for a hearing May 12 before the fisheries committee. The bill includes proposed water safety rules.
HENDERSON, N.C. (AP)—Police and state troopers, outnumbering pickets, escorted a full shift of workers to their jobs at the Harriet-Henderson Cotton Mills today after another outbreak of violence.
The quiet scene contrasted sharply with Wednesday night when second-shift workers met small arms fire, homemade flares and firecrackers.
About 250 pickets ignored a steady drizzle at the company's two plants to jeer and shout defiance at the departing workers. One picket was struck in the arm by a .38 caliber bullet. Officers said he received first aid treatment at a hospital and was released.
The strikers were angered at the small number of jobs left available to them after the strike apparently was settled last week.
When only 30 strikers were taken back Monday, the striking Textile Workers Union of America said it had been misled as to the number of jobs available to its members.
The union said it had about 1,000 members out of the 1,200 work-

REDS CLAIM BULK OF REBELLION IN TIBET IS QUELLED
By JOHN RODERICK
TOKYO (AP)—The Chinese Communist command in Tibet claimed today it had wiped out the bulk of the Tibetan rebellion and killed, wounded, or taken prisoner nearly 2,000 rebels.
The army said that the only remaining opposition was from "a few remnant bandits who have fled to remote mountainous areas."
"With the active support of the Tibetan people in those localities," the announcement said, "the troops are continuing to hunt out and mop up the scattered remnants. They will be wiped out in the near future."
The army report, broadcast by the Communist New China News Agency, said that in more than 10 days of fighting the Red troops had captured a vast number of villages, including "all the key points in the border area of the Loka area and in the northern ranges of the Himalaya Mountains."

Northbound Duck Visits Hotel Pool

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—A duck, flying north first class, took over the swimming pool on the fourth-floor terrace of the El Mirador Hotel here Wednesday night.
The greenheaded mallard made a few surface dives, then waddled onto the sun deck and basked under the electric lights.
Manager Warren Ramsey fed him some crackers. The duck took another dip before settling down for the night.
There were no human swimmers in the pool, but the patrons at the adjacent cocktail lounge were amused.

Police Crush Prison Riot In Concord

By TOM HORGAN
CONCORD, Mass. (AP)—Five desperate inmates of the Concord Reformatory held 15 hostages for four hours Wednesday night until a wave of state troopers ended their bid for freedom with tear gas and acetylene torches.
One of the quintet, identified as kidnaper Charles (Bull) Martin, 36, held a smuggled gun to the head of a hostage while demanding "We want out."
Correction Commissioner George McGrath said Martin mistakenly "thought he could make it out of there through the front door with the revolver and hostages."
"This was an escape attempt, pure and simple," said Edward S. Grennan, superintendent of the reformatory, which once housed only youthful offenders but now is used for long-term adult prisoners.
Grennan said the leaders of the revolt called him twice by telephone from their temporary stronghold demanding to get out.
Instead, Grennan called in State Police to storm the wing where the rebels were holding the hostages.
Grennan said that in addition to Martin the convicts who caused the wild disturbance were Thomas P. Carlini, 28, kidnaper; Charles Woods, 31, burglar; James Parker, 33, robber; and Peter Makarewicz Jr., 20, who five years ago killed a 15-year-old girl in his town of Norwood.
Authorities said that about 50 other prisoners milled about free of their cells during the uprising but took no active part in it.
The five inmates held the hostages—13 guards and two civilians—for four hours before surrendering meekly, their eyes swollen by tear gas.
Their chances of getting out, from the start, were nil. Lt. Col. John C. Blake, executive officer of the state police, heading an assault force of 125 troopers, said when asked if negotiations were

Boost in Fees For Professional Licenses Proposed

HARRISBURG (AP)—The chairman of a Senate committee examining Gov. Lawrence's record budget claims the state could raise 3 1/2 million dollars more revenue in the next two years by raising fees for professional licenses.
Sen. George B. Stevenson (R-Clinton) suggested the increases Wednesday at a hearing of the Public Instruction Department's request for $85 million dollars in the 1959-61 biennium.
"We'll expect 3 1/2 million in additional revenue from increases in fees," Stevenson told Supt. Charles H. Boehm. "You fellows work it out."
People in the professions are required to obtain state licenses from the department's Bureau of Professional Licensing. New licenses issued each Billy Joe Wright, 25, was ordered to Folsom, California's maximum security penitentiary. William D. Werner, 24, goes to the California medical facility at Vacaville.

At a news conference Wednesday, both expressed anger at being sent from San Quentin Prison although it meant they would not spend 29 days in solitary confinement.

ANSWER TO INJUNCTION REQUEST WILL BE FILED WITHIN 15 OR 20 DAYS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department expects to have ready in 15 or 20 days its answer to an appeal by the Seneca Indians to the Supreme Court to halt construction of the proposed 113-million dollar flood control dam at Kinzua, Pa.
Roger Marquis, justice department attorney, said he will ask the court to dismiss the Senecas' appeal, filed Wednesday, to review lower court decisions rejecting the Indians' request for an injunction.
Marquis said he will pursue essentially the same line he did in the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals earlier. The government contends that Congress clearly authorized appropriation in 1958 to begin construction.
Edward E. O'Neill in his petition to the Supreme Court reiterated his contention that special legislation is needed to permit government acquisition of the land granted the Senecas in a treaty dating back to 1794.
The Indians are opposing the dam because its proposed reservoir would inundate an estimated 9,000 acres of their 30,000 acre reservation along the Allegheny River in New York State. The dam itself would be located 12 miles below the New York-Pennsylvania border.
The government has 30 days under Supreme Court rules to reply to O'Neill's petition. However, an answer is expected before that time because of pressure by Pennsylvania groups to get work on the project back on schedule.
The project at present is being held up because of the litigation. President Eisenhower's budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 contains no appropriation for Kinzua because of the court case. Budgets of the two previous years have included appropriations of one million dollars each.
Marquis said he will begin work on his reply to O'Neill as soon as possible and submit it for the approval of Solicitor General J. Lee Rankin.
Pennsylvania's Gov. David L. Lawrence, members of the Pennsylvania congressional delegation and representatives of local groups will appear at a House appropriations subcommittee next Thursday to urge appropriation of additional funds for the Kinzua project. It is their hope that the court will refuse to review the case.
On May 5-6, Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, former TVA director who now is consulting engineer for the Senecas, will appear before senate and house subcommittees to ex-

Arms Cache Discovered At Panama

By LUIS NOLI
PANAMA (AP)—The National Guard said today it had dug up an arms cache landed on a beach 75 miles west of Panama City by Roberto Arias, fugitive husband of British ballerina Margot Fonteyn.
Arias was still at large with most of the 10-man band the government claims landed with him at Santa Clara Sunday. The government accused Arias of trying to launch a revolution against President Ernest de la Guardia. It expelled his wife from the country.
National Guard patrols searched the coastal strip near Santa Clara, where the Arias family, long a power in Panamanian politics, has a big estate. Roberto's father is a former president of Panama who split a year ago with the De la Guardia administration.
Officials said search of a beach cottage near Santa Clara turned up letters left by Arias, including one from American movie star John Wayne. Authorities said Wayne was a friend and business partner of Arias.
Contents of the letter were not revealed.
At his home in Encino, Calif., Wayne said he had corresponded with Arias on several occasions and had no idea what this particular letter might have dealt with.
"I've known Tito (Arias) for 20 years off and on. I've got business in Panama with him, and without him. I also know other members of the family. His father is a well respected lawyer in Panama," Wayne said.
Asked what his principal business was in Panama, Wayne said:

Godfrey Admits Being Worried About Operation

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (AP)—Arthur Godfrey says he's a bit worried about his operation this weekend to remove a tumor from his left chest, but he expects to be around for a long time.
"Even if this tumor is malignant," he said Wednesday night, "I think I've caught it in time. I know people who have lived a long time with only one lung."
The 55-year-old radio-television personality discussed the operation with reporters after receiving a special award from the Izaak Walton League of America for "outstanding contributions to the vast field of conservation." The award specifically cited conservation practices on his 1,500-acre farm at Paconia Springs, Va.
Godfrey, who flew here from Virginia in his own plane to receive the award at the league's convention, said he hopes to be in the hospital less than two months. The operation will be performed Saturday in New York.

Dulles Designated Special Foreign Policy Consultant

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower designated John Foster Dulles as a special consultant on foreign policy today and attended a swearing-in ceremony in Dulles' hospital room.
The cancer-stricken former secretary of state was up and dressed—blue suit, blue shirt and blue necktie—for the occasion.
Eisenhower read a special statement. In turn, Dulles read a little statement of his own praising his successor in the State Department Christian A. Herter, and expressing gratitude to Eisenhower for the new appointment.
"Your willingness to continue to contribute your abundant talent and unique experience to the service of the United States and the free world is but one more example of your magnificent spirit and devotion to the nation's welfare," Eisenhower said.
How active Dulles will be is problematical. His doctors would not permit more than a few associates and family members to attend the swearing-in ceremony at Walter Reed Army Hospital.

Winds Force Balloonist To Abandon Venus Trip

NEVERS, France (AP)—Strong winds today forced a young French astronomer to give up his balloon flight for a look at the planet Venus after he had soared 42,000 feet.
Andouin Dollfus said the attempt was worthwhile for the scientific data collected even though he fell short of his goal of 52,500 feet. He made a safe landing after six hours aloft.
The adventurous 34-year-old scientist sought to rise into the stratosphere for observations of the planet free of distortion caused by the earth's atmosphere.

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—The Knox Coal Co., its president and his predecessor have been indicted by a federal Grand Jury on charges of labor-management collusion in violation of the Taft-Hartley Act. It's the second indictment for the two men.
Before recessing Wednesday, the jury cited the firm for 34 violations, President Louis Fabrizio for nine and former President Robert L. Dougherty for 25. The jury will be recalled at a later date to continue an investigation stemming from the Jan. 22 flooding of the Knox mine at Port Griffith. Twelve men were lost.

Unemployment Study Measure Encounters Snag

By R. L. LIVINGSTONE
WASHINGTON (AP)—An embarrassing legislative situation is delaying House action on a Senate-passed bill for a special commission to study unemployment and its remedies.
House Democratic leaders reportedly fear that establishment of such a commission now would strengthen opposition to housing, aid to depressed areas, and other bills they are pushing to create jobs. Opponents could urge a delay until the commission had time to study the problem.
The proposal for an 11-member commission was sponsored by Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas. It passed by the Senate two weeks ago. Once it is allowed to go to floor, passage does not appear to be in doubt.
A top-ranking Democrat said the problem was entirely one of timing, and added: "If I had my way, the time would be the end of the session."

Annual Bonus to Betts Employees Shows Increase

Betts Machine Company, manufacturers of valves and safety lamps for the tank truck industry, paid its employees their annual bonus yesterday.

Payment of the bonus, which is based on a percentage of the company's profits, was recognized as being higher than former years. Clifford R. Betts, President, pointed out that this was due largely to the increased efficiency of the plant and the new products designed by Joseph H. DeFree. During the past year, the company has put five new valve products on the market, and has added six new safety lamps to its nationally recognized line. Many new products are in the development stage.

Mr. Betts pointed out that the continued growth of the company is assured as long as the company continues to keep pace with the tank truck industry's ever changing needs. For a company so young in this particular industry, it is recognized by both major oil companies and for hire tankers, as the leaders. They are looking to us for new products to meet their needs.

A film sponsored by the National Tank Truck Carriers Association, in cooperation with the interstate commerce commission was then shown. The film which was in color and sound, pictured many of the products manufactured by Betts. As the valves were actually installed and demonstrated on a cutaway tank truck, everyone was pleased to see how Warren Valves function in actual operation, and affect tank petroleum and chemical tank truck industries.

'SUCH A GENTEEL BUSINESS'

This Housewife Really Budgets Her Dollars

BY AILEEN SNOODY
NEA Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA—(NEA)—Max is just one of the boys from 9 to 5. After that she goes home to her husband, an electrical engineer, a bruised teen-age wrestler of a son and her electric organ.

As a research analyst for a mutual fund company, Maxine Farmer finds herself in the happy position of being surrounded by more men than women during her working hours. Behind this naturally pleasant working condition is the fact that there are relatively few women financial analysts in this country and she is the only one at Wellington Co. in Philadelphia.

But Mrs. Farmer believes the field is begging for women. And so do some of the corporation executives she meets and questions on the job.

She relates in a subdued but unhesitant voice that one executive lauded the field as "such a genteel business." He thought it was ideal for women.

"I must admit," she continues, "that the numbers are so nice and clean."

And this financial expert with a Jane Wyman face also praises the men she meets in companies in this country. "They're all gentlemen," she says. After this kind word comes a more bitter pill for the male side.

Women, in her opinion, are astute, shrewd and better investors than men—who certainly don't give them credit for this ability. Any woman who can balance a family budget is half-way attuned to the stock tables, she feels.

Why did Mrs. Farmer take to figures?

"It was love at first sight—and necessity. I was the oldest of several children and my mother was a widow."

In her move toward her present duties of investigating businesses to advise a mutual fund when to invest or not invest in certain securities, she helped juggle the family finances. Then she trudged the campus of Purdue University, her arms filled with more books on corporation rectly works with scores of her sex since Wellington, for example, admits 56 per cent of its 260,000 shareholders are women.

"Women are basically conservative," Mrs. Farmer insists. "A mutual fund offers a conservative form of management in investing money."

It isn't quick money but future security which attracts the girls, plus the fact that few husbands explain to their wives how and why they are handling family savings and investments as they do.

A bleak footnote to such shortsightedness: Widows spend all the insurance money within two years of a husband's death.

This is why more women need prodding into the investment arena. And more of them are tasting the sweet fruits reported in financial columns.

These Mrs. Farmer calls "just an extension of the penny-a-point bridge club. Women belong to them who like to gamble."

But then she hastens to add that it is still a great way for women to learn what they can do with money besides wear it on their heads.

"And besides, it is educational."

Minor changes in schedules will be made in several Pennsylvania Railroad trains in the Northern Region with the start of fast time Sunday, Christy G. Magruder, regional manager, announced today.

The overnight train from

Buffalo to Philadelphia, New York and Washington will leave Buffalo at 9:20 p. m., daylight time, an hour and five minutes later than at present.

The train from Erie to Emporium, where the connection with the Buffalo train is made, will leave Erie at 7:30 p. m., daylight time, 55 minutes later than now.

Another change in the Erie train will be the substitution of a 10-roomette, 5-double bedroom car in place of the 21-roomette car now operating between Erie and New York. This change will provide a variety of sleeping accommodations.

SHEFFIELD

SHEFFIELD—The choir of the First Methodist church will meet in the church for its regular practice tonight at 7:00 o'clock. At 8:00 p. m., Barnes Omega Class will meet at the Ruth M. Smith Home as guests of Mrs. Robert Coulter.

Mrs. Harry Mickel was hostess to Garden Club Wednesday afternoon with 14 members present and a guest, Mrs. M. Bowser. Roll call was answered by some very interesting civil improvements. Discussion was followed by uncovering roses, nip and snip.

The program was "Rose Garden" by Mrs. C. E. Taylor, who gave a very interesting talk with many hints on protection for roses. The past winter proved very hard on roses. Committee was Mrs. Arch Brown and Mrs. Joe Curtin.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gallagher have returned to their summer home in Cherry Grove, after spending the winter in California.

Mrs. M. Bowser and grandson, Rex, presently living in Danielson, Conn., are spending ten days at their home here.

A senator may serve on several committees at the same time and usually does.

Resolutions Adopted by Psychiatric Technicians

Publicity Release from Pennsylvania Psychiatric Technicians' Association, Chapter No. 1, Warren State Hospital: At the regular April meeting of the Pennsylvania Psychiatric Technicians Association, the Association adopted two resolutions of utmost importance to all technicians and fellow employees of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Due to the fact that the Commonwealth has not granted an across the board pay increase since 1953 while other states and the Federal Government have granted substantial increases to offset increased living costs, the Association thereby adopted a resolution to support the request of the Pennsylvania State Employees Council and Warren State Hospital Local No. 469.

The first resolution was a $2.00 a day salary increase for all state employees in order that the employees may maintain an adequate standard of living for themselves and their families.

The second resolution called for support of the legislative program asking for statewide Civil Service for all state employees, repeal of the Anti Strike Act 492, L947 and enactment of a new program providing grievance procedures and bargaining rights for employees, unemployment compensation for state, county and municipal public employees as well as accumulative sick leave and vacation leave for the state employee, time and a half pay for over-time, union dues deductions for those employees desiring such service, health and welfare program, hospital coverage, provisions for contributory group life, accident, hospital and surgical insurance, salary and medical expenses for state employees injured in performance of duties, uniform working conditions with all fringe benefits for per diem employees, improvements in Pennsylvania Civil Service Law covering promotions, appointments and test requirements, improvements in state employment providing for licensing of stationary engineers similar to Resolution No. 73 adopted by the Senate and House of Representatives, Bills No. 844 and No. 845.

The Association would like the public to note that fringe benefits are as much as $3.30 per salary dollar, while the fringe benefits paid to the state employees now average about $0.07 per salary dollar.

Public support of these resolutions will help correct the increasing difficulty that the Commonwealth is finding in attracting and keeping qualified workers on the payroll and additional expense to the public because of the unnecessary turnover.

Forest Co. Boy Is Awarded 4-H Club Scholarship

(Publicity release from the office of the Forest County Agent)

Because of his 4-H Club achievements, John L. Wagner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wagner, Tionesta, RD 1, has been awarded a William H. Danforth 4-H Club Leadership Training Scholarship to attend the American Youth Foundation Leadership Training Camp, Stony Lake, Oceana County, Michigan. He will attend the two-week camp period for boys August 17 to 30.

One boy and one girl have been given these scholarships in the state of Pennsylvania, according to County Agent Russell M. Smith.

Why these scholarships are made available is explained in the first paragraph of the essay John submitted with his achievement report:

"To attain leadership I firmly believe that a well-balanced development is mandatory on the part of anyone who has the ambition to become a genuine leader. The possibilities of attaining leadership are very limited to that person who does not cultivate his physical, mental, social and religious development. This is why William H. Danforth Leadership Training Camps are made available to young people who show leadership potentials. It is these special scholarships which enable many youth to receive leadership training at the American Youth Foundation Training Camp."

A number of the 4-H Clubs of the county are planning to contribute to a fund for help in defraying John's transportation expenses to and from camp. Contributions from interested persons will be accepted by County Agent Smith.

This year John is leader of the Red Brush 4-H Agricultural Club. He was junior leader of his club two years, president of his local club and the County 4-H Bee Club for a total of three years. John also served as club secretary-treasurer for three years and as news reporter of one year.

At the Kick-Off Party in 1958, John was crowned the first 4-H King for Forest County.

Since 1951 John has been enrolled in the following projects: pig feeding, potato, sweet corn, sweet corn, and beekeeping.

In 1958 he marketed 1134 dozen ears of sweet corn grown from seven pounds of seed.

John was top county winner in the National Awards Garden Program for the year 1957. In the same season he was a county winner in Beekeeping and Boy's Agricultural National Award Programs. He also took first place in the county in the 1955 Meat Animal National Awards program with his swine project.

John also has been a leader in church, school, and community organizations. He graduated from West Forest High School in 1958. Being the reporter for the State Future Farmers of America Association, he is called upon to address many groups throughout the state.

TWO FACES OF GIVING

It is a good heart that looks on philanthropy and charity as an unfulfilling obligation. But there in another aspect to this that the thoughtful giver should not overlook.

There are agencies like the American Cancer Society which call on the enduring quality of philanthropy for purposes that offer a great deal more than the satisfaction of giving.

It should be noted that part of the involuntary tax dollar and part of the voluntary charity dollar are used for a common goal—the elimination of cancer. It is interesting as well in our country that the fight against cancer is both a function of government and of philanthropy. The American public has assigned vital roles to the National Cancer Institute and to the American Cancer Society in the fight for cancer control. What is the significance? By its own action, the public has shown that it regards an agency like the Cancer Society as an expression of its will to conquer cancer. The public does not give to the Society so much as it makes demands. The Cancer Society is not used merely as a receptacle for the discharge of conscience.

The Cancer Society is a public trust and has a duty to perform. It is precisely this kind of thinking the Society wants to attend its gifts. The Society correctly believes that the thoughtful giver will try to match his gift with the magnitude of the cancer problem. The thoughtful giver will understand that an agency coping with a formidable problem requires formidable support.

For 1959, the American Cancer Society has adopted an unlimited goal for its April Cancer Crusade. The Society believes it is a fair measure of public understanding to ask for all the dollars necessary to save all those who now die of cancer. The time is ripe for an all-out, unlimited attack on this dreadful disease. The opportunity is unlimited, the goal is priceless.

Think about your gift to the 1959 Cancer Crusade. Give now that cancer may be conquered now! Send your dollars to the Warren County Unit, American Cancer Society, PO Box 685, Warren, Pa.

WORLD TODAY

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

Soviet propaganda has begun a sudden new massive buildup of Nikita Khrushchev. The plaudits are nearly—but not quite—as extravagant as those showered upon Stalin in his later years.

It seems to indicate Khrushchev has taken a grip on the top rung of his ladder to the pinnacle of power. That pinnacle will not be achieved until he is universally recognized as the only true prophet of Communist theory. If he nails this down, he will become an even more formidable antagonist for the West in the dangerous political wars to come.

Still, there are intriguing, precedent-shattering twists to the buildup. Is Khrushchev, even now, wholly secure? He could have had to order the campaign—and even push it on the Communist party—for reasons connected both with internal politics and external policy.

The excuse for the adulation was Khrushchev's 65th birthday. The anniversary was last Friday, when no attention was paid to it in the Soviet press. Two days later a great shower of greetings burst in the papers, signed by party notables. On the third day, as if in response to a prod, there was yet another burst of hosannas, this time from the satellite countries. It all looked like the result of an afterthought in the Kremlin.

Not even Stalin got special treatment on odd-year birthdays. Communist practice has been to limit such outbursts to decade anniversaries, 50, 60 or 70.

This week Moscow broadcasts provided intimate biographical notes on Khrushchev's family life. This was extraordinary for Soviet propaganda, which up to now has consistently avoided mentioning the family lives of Communist leaders. Moscow's foreign language broadcasts to non-Communist countries seemed to be trying to humanize Khrushchev, to make him appear a wholesome, family type.

The buildup continued with the annual Lenin Day address in Moscow, always an important event for the Communist world. The speech invariably is given by a high priest of Red Theory, and this year the speaker was Leonid Brezhnev, a high-ranking party leader.

Brezhnev heaped more florid praise on Khrushchev as "loyal disciple of Lenin, gifted organizer, outstanding leader of the Communist party, the Soviet state and the entire international Communist and labor movement." He needed only to add "genius, leader and teacher" to make this a carbon copy of a Stalin-era address.

Brezhnev's speech provided some hints on the why of all this. Khrushchev may be getting himself built up for some new and significant honor which at last will tend to rank him as Stalin's equal. The buildup comes at a time when Red China's Mao Tse-tung is retiring more and more to the background, while Khrushchev is emerging more and more as the only true exponent of Communist theory.

At home, Khrushchev may be preparing a final payoff for his political foes. Brezhnev referred to the Soviet party as "ruthlessly fighting against all who are dragging it backward, who try to divert it from Lenin's path." Then Brezhnev heaped abuse on the so-called anti-party group headed by former Premier Malenkov, all of whom Khrushchev managed to toss out of the party leadership.

The buildup cannot be separated from world events. With a summit meeting in the offing, Khrushchev may need all the home support he can muster.

COME ONE! COME ALL!

Here and There

A press release from Washington says the National Wildlife Federation has announced "Our Growing Water Problems," by R. G. Lynch of Milwaukee, as a new booklet, publication of a new booklet, waukee. The 60-page publication treats, on a national scale, the complex problems of managing public water resources for diverse and conflicting needs of a rapidly expanding human population. In obtaining material, the author interviewed informed sources in all regions and states. After outlining some of the difficulties in a brief foreword, Lynch says: "These are water problems of far greater importance to the nation than the interests of men who want to use water to make a dollar or abuse it to save one." Lynch discusses confusion, water trouble and use and supply. This is followed by chapters on remedies and water laws, including a discussion of a "model act." The booklet then outlines waste disposal, status of the water supply situation in five regions of the U. S. and concludes with his comments and observations. Lynch, 60, is a veteran newspaperman of his 42 years in the field, 37 have been spent on the Milwaukee Journal. He served as sports editor of the Journal for 24 years, during which time his column, "Maybe I'm Wrong," was quoted nationally. Lynch was instrumental in moving of the Boston Braves baseball franchise to Milwaukee. In 1956, Lynch took on a new assignment as a reporter on natural resource conservation and possibly is the nation's only newspaperman with this full-time assignment. He now is a recognized authority in this field and his treatment of such subjects as waterfowl wetland drainage, flood control on the Mississippi River, wilderness and natural resources in Alaska have been widely reprinted and distributed. Single copies of "Our Growing Water Problems" may be obtained without charge from Educational Servicing, National Wildlife Federation, 232 Carroll street, N. W., Washington 12, D. C.

Politicos Stick to Shallow Water Down on the Farm

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Farmers are now beginning to receive spellbinding attention from 1960 presidential candidates. The Democratic candidates, that is.

For the Republicans, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, plows for congressional authority to lower price supports. He wants to cut production instead of raising bigger surpluses.

Secretary Benson is also expected to present a new plan to Congress this month, calling for an increase in the soil bank.

Vice President Nixon, leading GOP presidential possibility, as yet hasn't spelled out his farm program. But in the past he's supported Benson's plans, which are the President's, too.

Democratic hopefuls, however, are planting campaign promises.

SOME OF THEM SEEM as sterile as Eisenhower's 1952 campaign promise, to give farmers "100 per cent of parity in the market place," which never amounted to a thing.

Sen. Stuart Symington was out in Topeka the other day to speak at the annual Kansas Democratic Club dinner. He said the Democratic Congress was now working on a bill to replace the bankrupt Benson program. This new bill was to have these four elements:

1. Give the farmer a fair price. (This is like being for home and mother.)
2. Give farmers the tools to compete with closely organized segments of the economy. (What do you suppose that means?)
3. Bring farm production in line with realistic needs. (How do you do that without cutting price supports, reducing marketing quotas and acreage allotments?)
4. Face up to gigantic inventory problems. (All right. Only it would be helpful if some statesman would say specifically how he proposes to prevent them.)

CANDIDATE JOHN F. KENNEDY was up in Wisconsin on the same day Symington was in Kansas. He had five points in what he called his "sound, long-range farm program."

1. Treat farm abundance as a blessing, not as a curse. (Just how do you do that?)

2. Set up any future farm program to be run by farmer committees at the local level. (Most are now.)

3. Assure farmers a fair share of the national income. (It costs taxpayers about five billion dollars a year to do that now.)

4. Encourage the growth of co-operatives. (This is specific, but how will that reduce surpluses?)

5. Preserve the family farm. (This gets you back to the "home and mother" routine.)

Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota has been meeting with farm organization representatives to shape up his program. It isn't complete yet, but he has put in one bill dealing with the surplus problem. Senator Kennedy and others are sponsors. They call it a "Food for Peace Act."

IT WOULD CREATE a "Peace Food Administration" in the White House. Public Law 480, under which surpluses are now sold or given away at home and abroad, would be extended for five years with annual appropriations of two billion dollars a year instead of a mere billion and a half.

Humphrey and other sponsors are also introducing separate bills to handle dairy surpluses on a self-help basis and to revamp conservation reserve and farm committee systems.

Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas, in his 12-point legislative program for the new Congress, presented last December, included "a new farm program." But he has not been more specific.

A Senate omnibus farm bill is now in preparation. But it won't be ready for awhile.

Entitled "Spring Plowing"

this interesting editorial appeared in a recent issue of The New York Times: "Back in the hills to the north the farmers say that oats must be in the ground by April to make a decent crop, and before you can plant you have to plow. With the season the way it has been, this year's spring plowing has been a struggle with rain and mud, not to mention deep frost that has been slow coming out of the ground. But, as always, the plowing gets done; and the farmer, despite his troubles, gets satisfactions out of the job just as the gardener gets intangible dividends out of his own lesser work with the soil. The old days are gone, the days when a man wrestled a walking plow and a team of horses to get his plowing done. But the tractor hasn't removed a man's contact with the soil. You don't have to walk a furrow all day long to know the feel of the land, and not even the exhaust from a gasoline engine can smother the smell of fresh-turned earth on an open hillside in April. There's something elemental in that soil, no matter how many years it has been cultivated. It is still the stuff of growth, the rootbed. Adam knew and felt and saw and smelled such soil, and after he had to sweat at the job of tending it he came to appreciate it. Any man who works with it still respects it, for he knows that seed and sun, rain and soil are the prime essentials of life. Farming methods change, seed is improved and yields are vastly increased, but earth, the soil itself, remains the basic element of growth. The roots know it, and the seed knows it. And every time the farmer prepares the earth-bed for that seed he knows it. That's one reason that spring plowing, even in a late season, still has its satisfactions. It is a kind of renewed contact with the earth's own vitality, with the substance of life itself."

Families of Jewish faith are observing Passover, the great Festival of Freedom. Pesach, or Passover, commemorates the miraculous deliverance of the Children of Israel from Egyptian slavery 3,500 years ago.

This historic landmark of the first great stand for religious freedom began Wednesday evening and will end April 30th after sundown. Following the Bible commandment, "And thou shalt tell thy son . . . fathers will listen to their children's traditional question opening the family prayer service and meal of symbolic foods: "Wherefore is this night distinguished from all other nights?" The Hebrew sages taught that all generations should approach the Passover celebration as though each person himself had been delivered from the cruel and bitter yoke of pharaoh of Egypt. Thus, in an unbroken line, tradition connects modern families with those ancient families of the Exodus who nearly 3,500 years ago began one of the most astonishing marches in the life of mankind. The faithful eat no bread or other leavened food during the eight days of Passover. Matzo, the unleavened bread often called "the bread of affliction," is eaten in commemoration of the haste of the departure from Egypt. The ancient Israelites had no time to bake their bread in the ordinary manner; instead, they had to let it dry in the desert sun and partook of it on their march to freedom.

DISTRESS FROM EMOTIONAL PROBLEMS

Many neurotic or nervous individuals see their physician constantly but do not get well. Among their complaints are vague pains, peculiar sensations, dizziness, weakness, and fatigue. Physical examination reveals no abnormality and all the blood tests and X-rays are normal.

These men and women are not imagining they are ill nor are they looking for sympathy. They submit to and often demand time consuming and expensive tests, consultations, and even operations. The physician may comply with their wishes, realizing how difficult it is to convince the neurotic that nothing is wrong, even with a battery of negative tests.

Cure is impossible until these persons understand the cause of their troubles and assume the responsibility for eliminating it. The stress and strain produced by the problems of living are being expressed in bizarre symptoms, which cannot be explained logically.

The nervous individual fails to recognize the manifestations for what they are. "She gives me a pain in the neck" and "What a headache this job is" is a good way to pinpoint the relationship between emotional conflicts and various aches, pains, and other complaints.

The development of such symptoms helps the emotional unstable man or woman to save face. Such physical manifestations excuse them from assuming responsibility or taking the blame for failure. It is more socially acceptable to complain of indigestion, palpitation of the heart, or frequent headaches than to admit to feelings of dependency and inadequacy. A well timed headache is safer for the job than to go into a rage over an unreasonable boss.

Neurotics who are willing to accept this logical explanation of their physical symptoms will improve, provided they alter for the better their pattern of living. They must do this themselves, because no one else can.

TOMORROW: Distress after stomach operations.

UNPRODUCTIVE COUGH

Yes. Find out from your physician why you cough and what can be done about it. Meanwhile, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on cough.

ATTACKS OF VERTIGO

M. J. writes: Can Meniere's disease be cured? I get attacks of this horrible thing about every six months.

REPLY
Most persons with dizziness due to Meniere's syndrome have one or two attacks and then appear to be cured in a few, the condition recurs despite the best of medical care. I assume the person you ask about has been examined and treated by a skilled ear specialist.

URIC ACID STONES

E. D. writes: Is diet of any value for a person who forms uric acid stones?

REPLY
Uric acid comes from food and a diet low in purines such as liver, bacon, salmon, and meat extracts, may reduce the amount in the system. Drinking large quantities of water helps keep uric acid in solution.

FRUIT OR MEDICINE

Mrs. W. writes: Is grapefruit better than medicine for arthritis?

REPLY
Medicine is more helpful in relieving pain but I must admit that grapefruit tastes better.

MUMPS IN MAN

Business Mirror

Editors' note:

American employees and employers who think social security taxes are tough should take a look at Italy, says Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst, in the following article. Dawson is touring Europe.

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

ROME (AP) — Americans who remember the unpleasant drop in take home pay in January when the social security tax rate went up should look at Italy.

And U.S. employees whose contributions to social security funds advanced in the same proportion should be thankful they don't have to put up what their Italian opposite numbers do. It comes to about 35 per cent of payroll, perhaps a little less, perhaps a little more depending on the type of business.

U.S. businessmen shake their heads over all the clerical work involved in filling out government forms and keeping track of each employee's contributions—not only to social security but also to the federal income tax collectors and those of some states. The costs run high.

But in Italy an employer reports to as many as six social security or similar agencies. Some concerns are required to file declarations in advance as to how much overtime is expected in a coming period—and they must pay a 15 per cent tax on the overtime pay. Employers also must withhold income taxes from employees in the same manner as in the United States; it's only the investors, businessmen, professional men, entertainers and similar persons who find ways to evade.

Look at just one instance of what an employer has to pay in various forms of social security to an employee—not to mention what he has to pay if the employee quits.

Giovanni has a fairly good job: He earns $200 a month from which his employer deducts 4.5 per cent ($9) as Giovanni's contribution to various social security taxes. Also deducted is seven per cent ($14) for income tax. Then the employer pays, from his own pocket: 12.8 per cent ($25.60) to one old age pension agency; six per cent ($12) to another pension agency; 525 per cent ($10.50) to a health insurance agency; 1.15 per cent ($2.30) to a government housing agency; and finally eight per cent ($16) to an agency that pays the employee a monthly family bonus. Total cost to the employer: 33.20 per cent ($66.40) monthly.

But that isn't all. The employer also must pay Giovanni a "13th month" salary Dec. 31. It's simply a year-end bonus of one month's pay, but all social security charges must be paid on this too.

And if Giovanni quits he gets a liquidation bonus of one-month pay for each year of employment.

Friendship Caravan Speaker Tells How Travelers May Lend Influence

The Rev. Robert P. Kellerman, pastor of High Street Methodist church in Binghamton, N. Y., was guest speaker for the April meeting of the Church School Workers' Conference of First Methodist church. Members of the Youth Fellowship and their parents were also invited guests.

F. R. Erickson, church school superintendent, opened the session with devotions. Mr. Kellerman, one of the organizers of Friendship Caravan, a planned tour of Europe for both youths and adults, was introduced by Miss Evelyn Curtis, director of religious education in the church.

It was with his tour last year that Miss Curtis and Mrs. John Latschaw, with whom she resides, made their trip abroad. Eugene Erickson, of the Methodist Youth Fellowship, also went to Europe, last summer under the youth group of Friendship Caravan.

Mr. Kellerman's address was highly inspirational and concerned a Christian's responsibility in international living. He said so many are traveling abroad today that a Christian attitude could do much toward influencing better relations between countries.

Our efforts to understand the people, our conduct, and our respect for their customs and culture are very important, he pointed out, for they see our country as we portray it to them.

The speaker related many of his own experiences and gave encouragement not only to youths but to adults who might wish to work abroad for a period of time in whatever field they are best fitted. He urged youth to consider seriously a life of service to mankind as it is seen in the life of Jesus.

Continuing, he said one of the barriers in understanding between countries has been our lack of ability to converse with natives in their own tongue. He advised young people to pay special attention to their study of languages, so they may be better able to understand the people of the country in which they serve. Service may be rendered in almost any field, he stated, such as engineering, medicine, nursing, business, agriculture, etc.

Following the address, many sought an opportunity to speak personally with Mr. Kellerman during the social hour. Refreshments were served by the Commission on Education with Mrs. Milton Kay as chairman and the following as her committee: Mrs. Charles Eaton, Mrs. Dale Witherell and Mrs. L. C. Niederlander; Mrs. S. Knox Harper and Mrs. E. S. Koebly presiding at the table.

Wedding of Interest

Charleen Ann Herrling, Syracuse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard S. Herrling of Auburn, N. Y., and Dr. Theodore N. Smith of Syracuse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell M. Smith, of Garland, were united in marriage April 18 in St. Peter's Episcopal church in Auburn.

The Rev. James E. Mahagan performed the ceremony at 3:00 p. m. in a setting of lighted tapers and white spring bouquets.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of pure silk organza, the bodice accented with appliques of re-embroidered Alencon lace flowers, centered with clusters of pearls. The full sweep skirt was scattered over with the same applique motifs. A veil of tulle was caught to a matching cap, and she carried a cascade of white lilies of the valley, pink cymbidium orchids and ivy sprays.

Carol J. Herrling of Boston, Mass., served her sister as maid of honor; Mrs. Walter Wegst, Jr., of Ann Arbor, Mich., sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor; and bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Mills, Hampstead, N. H.; Mrs. James Stansfield, Syracuse; Mrs. Richard Surprenant, Camillus, N. Y., and Gretchen Herrling, New York City.

Their gowns were of blue silk organza, embroidered with off-white flowers, the bouffant skirts encircled with blue taffeta cummerbunds tied in butterfly bows. Their headpieces of tulle were sprinkled with violets and their bouquets were fashioned of violets, pink roses and ivy, centered with lighted violet candles.

Dr. John W. Lehman, McKeesport, served as best man; ushering were Dr. Mario Scibetta, Boston; Walter Wegst, Jr., Ann Arbor; Ronald C. Windahl, Cleveland, O.; Dr. James W. Smith, Jr., Beaver Falls, Pa., and Alan R. Case, Kenmore, N. Y.

The bride's mother selected blue silk, with a pink gardenia corsage; the bridegroom's moth-

A reception for 200 guests was held in Springside Inn at Auburn.

After a trip to Montego Bay in Jamaica, B.W.I., the couple will be at the bridegroom's home in Syracuse until he completes his internship, then will go to Philadelphia.

The bride, graduate of Auburn East High School and Lassell College in Auburndale, Mass., is employed as recreation instructor at Syracuse State School. Dr. Smith is a Youngsville High School alumnus, attended Allegheny College and Hahnemann School of Medicine in Philadelphia, and is interning at Syracuse Medical Center.

Clean Beauty Tools At Usual Shampoo Time

Washing beauty tools each week is an essential part of good grooming since it's impossible to do a good job with a dirty brush or comb. This girl collects everything at once and gives them all a mild, soapy bath.

BY ALICIA HART, NEA Beauty Editor

The girl who gives herself a shampoo and then drags a dirty hairbrush through her hair is just undoing the work she's done. She's probably the girl who dips a soiled puff into a clean box of powder, thus working up a good case of blackheads.

For the truth is that beauty tools must be kept immaculately clean if they are to do a job. Many girls (and women, too) never give the matter a thought.

They'll use the same hairbrush, comb, wav net and powder puff week after week without pausing to consider that they're simply redistributing dirt.

Make a habit of collecting all of your beauty tools that can be washed and dunking them into soapsuds once a week. There's no need to soak them; dip them lightly into warm water. Let them drain dry on a terry towel. And never put them on or near a radiator to hasten drying.

Perhaps Taciturn Husband Just Needs Place to Talk

So your husband won't talk. Time was when the two of you could talk for hours. Now you do well to get a "Yeah," "Sure," or "That so?" response from him.

When you learn anything about his business, it's by accident. You overhear him discussing the matter with another man.

When you learn anything about his hopes, his disappointments, his ambitions it's because they come out in a general conversation. But he tells you mighty little of the things that are important to him. The response you get when you try to tell him about the things that are important to you is disheartening enough to make you wonder why you ever thought he would understand.

If that's your problem—and it seems to be the problem of a lot of the wives who write to me—here are a few suggestions that may help to make it easier for the two of you to talk to each other.

One night a week, go out to dinner together. Leave the children at home, don't be tempted to invite another couple to go along. Pick a quiet restaurant where the food is good and the atmosphere relaxing.

By the second cup of coffee you may be surprised to find that your husband is in a talkative mood. If he is—let him do the talking and give him your undivided attention.

At home try to arrange a quiet corner that will tempt your husband to relax. It may be just two comfortable chairs with a good reading light between them. But it will be enough if it is a hideaway from the noise of children, the TV and the endless telephone conversations of the children. What many couples need is just a place where they can talk.

Last of all, make a bigger effort than you have been making to have some interesting, worthwhile things to talk about. Men shy away from feminine chatter, but most are willing to listen to the women who has something to say.

Here, reading good books, keeping up with local and world events through your daily paper will be a big help.

Plan Beauty Stretches at Work

The gal with a desk job is the one who has to watch those curves. Sitting all day tends to make a girl spread in all directions. She can counteract this with good posture, exercise and careful eating. This girl (left) really reaches when she goes to the supply closet for pencils or paper clips. She knows that this works wonders for lazy muscles. She uses candy (center) as an aid to weight control. Instead of having dessert at lunch, she has one piece of candy before lunch.

Just one piece. There are 47 calories in an average piece of chocolate candy, a lot less than she would get in a gooey dessert. And this takes the edge from her appetite. She walks (right) each and every day. She makes certain that she gets out after lunch and moves about in the fresh air. This burns calories and exercises muscles. Walking is, in fact, just about the best all-around exercise. And, of course, it helps to keep your weight at the level best for you.

Every woman who sits at a desk all day has a problem in keeping those curves under control. A desk job is rough on posture, too. You tend to slump over as the day goes on, and we all know that drooping shoulders can add inches to the waistline.

There are several weapons you can use to combat inactivity, that insidious foe of the office gal. And first and foremost is making your job work for you. Arrange your supply cabinet so that when you have to get stationery, notebooks or pencils, you have to stretch to get them.

If you must consult someone a few offices away, don't pick up the phone. Pick yourself up and walk there. Chances are it won't take any longer, so you won't waste your employer's time.

Check your posture every so often. If you find yourself drooping, get up for a minute and move around. Then sit down again with an eye to sitting relaxed, but erect.

When you go out at noon, take a walk. With the warm weather on the way, it will be pleasant as well as beneficial to your figure.

Eat sensibly at lunch. There's no need for pastries and rich desserts. But if you have a sweet tooth, here's some advice that you'll welcome.

BY ALICIA HART, NEA Beauty Editor

Have you ever thought of candy as an aid to weight control? Probably not. But it can be a most effective one when used properly.

There are only about 47 calories in an average piece of boxed chocolate. It's a good idea to keep a box of candy in your desk drawer and use it JUDICIOUSLY.

Most of us need a pick-up in the late afternoon. One piece of chocolate will do the trick. You'll get quick energy and feel a lot better. But remember, only ONE piece. If you're one of those gals who can't resist fancy desserts at lunch, try eating one piece of candy before you go out to eat. It will take away that starved feeling, and after your lunch, you won't want that sweet cake. And you'll have had 47 calories instead of a couple of hundred.

Be conscious always of the fact that sitting at a desk for eight hours can play havoc with your figure. Though you work hard, you're not physically active. So take advantage of every opportunity during the working day to hold off those bumps and bulges. They're the bane of every office gal's existence.

RADIO and TV

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP) — The three major TV networks have baked their entertainment cake for next season. It is the same mixture as before: an extremely light affair. Icing will be added later as numerous special programs are announced. There also will be some plums inserted for the majority of viewers who seek intellectual sustenance.

But the basic prime evening viewing hours between 7:30 and 11 p.m. are pretty well set.

In general, it's difficult for a viewer to find any difference between next season and this season.

Some 13 hours of westerns will be on the three networks during the seven evenings of each week. Mysteries, will be second with about 12 hours.

Variety shows will occupy about nine hours, situation comedies seven hours, adventures four. Quiz and panel shows, which two years ago were occupying about 16 hours are away down to seven hours a week.

Regular weekly drama programs thus far scheduled total five hours (and that includes calling "77 Sunset Strip" on ABC-TV a "drama program"). The total amount of drama visible will be raised, however, by special programs, the monthly "DuPont Show of the Month" on CBS-TV, and five "Hallmark Hall of Fame" productions on NBC-TV.

"Playhouse 90" will be seen only every other week over CBS-TV, with a new 90-minute program, "Biography," alternating. On Sunday evenings, ABC-TV starts off, as at present, with "Maverick" and rides the western ranges until a new adventure.

The popular game of bowling was first brought to America by the Dutch.

BAIRSTOW STUDIO

"The Alaskans," comes on at 9:30. The CBS-TV Sunday evening schedule looks much the same, except that Jack Benny moves to 10 p.m., alternating each week with George Gobel, a transfer from NBC.

With Steve Allen abandoning his long-time Sunday spot for 10 p.m. on Mondays, NBC-TV will launch a new show, "Comedy Hour."

The switch in Allen's time, by the way, appears to be partly the result of the licking both his show and Ed Sullivan's show on CBS-TV have taken from "Maverick" in the audience-rating battles.

Allen's and Sullivan's ratings against each other fluctuate from week to week and appear to depend chiefly on what guests each has. Another element in Allen's switch is the fact that he will have an auto sponsor next season, as will Sullivan. Auto sponsors are reluctant to advertise at the same time as another auto manufacturer or another network.

Under present plans the biggest Western night will be Tuesdays, with seven visible, including two new ones.

Transferring Perry Como from Saturday evenings to his new "Kraft Music Hall" program Wednesday at 9, NBC-TV is placing a slew of popular programs back-to-back: "Wagon Train," "The Price Is Right," Como, "This Is Your Life," and the Loretta Young Show.

CBS-TV appears intent on playing space for all its worth with two adventures tentatively entitled "Space" and "Destination Space."

Independent program packages will continue to do a great deal of production for the networks. Five independents alone are producing 31 series.

When you hold four trumps it is generally advisable to open your long suit and try to force declarer rather than a short suit in hope of getting in a ruff but West saw nothing attractive about a diamond lead and decided to open his jack of clubs anyway.

It was a good decision indeed. South won the trick with dummy's king and led and finessed the jack of hearts. West ducked. He wanted to get some sort of signal from his partner.

The ten of hearts was played next and East obliged by playing the deuce of spades.

South took his ace and led the queen of hearts but now West was ready for the kill. He went up with the king and played ace, and another diamond.

East won the second diamond and a club ruff set the contract.

Before a lot of readers point out that West could have beaten the hand two tricks by taking the first heart and underleading his ace of diamonds twice, I might add that I am well aware of it but feel that West did very well indeed to set the hand at all.

News of Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Just who is the king of the jungle, anyway? Ever since the early movies, there has been a Tarzan. Whether it was Elmo Lincoln, Johnny Weissmuller, Buster Crabbe, Herman Brink (Bruce Bennett) or Lex Barker, he ruled the jungle with interference only from an occasional lion, rhino, etc.

Now it's Tarzan vs. Tarzan. One film company has been in Africa shooting "Tarzan's Greatest Adventure" with Gordon Scott as star. And Denny Miller is starring as "Tarzan, the Ape Man" on MGM's Lot 3. The explanation is evidence the movies are still a rough and tumble business.

Sy Weintraub took over the Tarzan series from its longtime producer, Sol Lesser, and launched a talent hunt for a new Tarzan to succeed Scott. Then he learned

MGM intended to re-film the first of the Weissmuller-Maureen O'Sullivan films, "Tarzan, the Ape Man."

So Weintraub called off his search and convinced Scott to resume his lioncloth despite his intention to seek less naked roles. Money talks in this jungle.

I dropped out to MGM to see the latest (No. 12) ape man and found him to be the neanderthal type. In the picture, that is. The son of a UCLA professor, Denny Miller is no dope. He is smart enough to know that acting can be precarious.

"I hope to get my degree in physical education this summer," he remarked. "So I can always become a coach if my acting career blows over."

I asked him if he worried about being typed as the jungle king. "No," he replied. "I understand that MGM owns only two more of the Tarzan stories, so there couldn't be much of a series I've done other roles. I had a bit in 'Some Came Running,' though you'd have to look pretty fast to see me. The part I'd like to do is Li'l Abner in the film version."

He's got the build for it. His 212 pounds are distributed on his 6 feet 4 inches with a sculptor's art.

National YWCA Survey Proves Most Fruitful

As National YWCA Week draws to a close, it is interesting to note that many American girls and women, when looking ahead to the future, want to travel and understand other people better. The National Board of Young Women's Christian Association in the United States learned in a nationwide survey just completed. More than 100 YWCA's in 33 states conducted the survey among both members and non-members of the organization.

Given 18 choices which they might add to their life as they plan for the future, 58 per cent of the nearly 10,000 questionnaire participants, ranging in age from 12 to over 50, checked travel among their preference for the future. Understanding other people better ran a neck and neck second with 57 per cent saying they wanted this as a major addition to their lives.

High among the choices was improvement in personal appearance, grooming and more friends. Fifty-three per cent checked personal appearance and grooming, while 49 per cent wanted to add more friends as they looked ahead to the future.

Their desire for "more knowledge of science" was less intense, this despite the developments of the space age and the widespread attention being given to the need for more scientists. Only 13 per cent of the total checked this as a possible addition to their lives with the greatest interest being shown by the 12 to 17 year olds. 20 per cent of some 2700 indicating that they want this information.

Many other interests were indicated in the survey all of which are provided by the local YWCA in one form or another. In honor of the national observance the public is cordially invited to pay the YWCA a visit, to better appreciate the many outlets it offers.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—There's a new way for the tired businessman to get rid of nagging tension. He can stand on his head—yep, right in its own office.

This upside down posture might even clear his thinking, and help him close a million-dollar business deal.

Head standing in the modern American office as a quick way to relax is not a visionary dream. It is being done.

Two of the leading exponents of this form of office exercise are Hugo Peretti, 31, and Luigi Creatore, 37, two of the brightest geniuses in the music recording field.

"I can cure a blinding headache in five minutes by standing on my head," boasted Hugo.

He is a reformed trumpet player. His partner, Luigi, is a former free lance writer. Both have a special talent for finding and developing new recording stars.

It is a nerve-racking industry and its strains often drive the men in it to ulcers or the psychiatrist's couch—or both. Some time ago both Peretti and Creatore felt the pressures were getting them down.

"Then we heard of yoga, the Hindu system of mental and body discipline," Hugo said. "We decided it was worth a try."

Since then they have tossed away the tranquilizing pills, they say.

When the tensions of a fast-paced day begin to turn their nerves to twanging banjo strings, they simply shut the door, turn off the phone, go to a small gym they have outfitted behind their office and practice their yoga exercises.

"The exercises are designed to bring you mental relaxation and improve your posture," explained Hugo.

Luigi usually does the head stand because he is better at it. Hugo's favorite is the lion pose.

"In this," said Hugo, "you kneel then sit back on your haunches like a lion. Your hands are stretched out past your knees. You let your tongue hang out. Your eyes bulge—and then you stretch every muscle in your body, let them relax, then stretch them again."

Secretaries were at first unnerved when they entered the gym and saw Hugo, his eyes bulging, making like a lion. But in the music world you soon get used to anything.

In another favorite yoga position the partners simply stretch out on the floor and try as hard as possible, said Luigi, "to look like a piece of raw liver."

"After five to 15 minutes of these exercises," said Hugo, "we jump up completely refreshed. We are good then for another 10 hours of work."

Once a week the boys visit their guru or yoga teacher, for an hour of advanced instruction.

The partners have taken considerable ribbing from friends. But they think the benefits in their own case have shown any worried executive might improve his health by a little judicious head standing.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fowl will be served in many American homes this Sunday.

Chickens, ducks and turkeys all are getting a good play in supermarkets and neighborhood grocery stores this weekend, with most of the emphasis on chickens. Frying, roasting and stewing birds all are offered since live bird prices are at their lowest level for this time of year since World War II.

March output of broiler chicks was a whopping 182 million, up 20 per cent from a year ago and the April hatch is expected to show an even heavier gain. Ducks are inexpensive right now and turkeys have become a year-round meat.

Ribs of beef also is a popular item this week with prices down 4 to 10 cents a pound in scattered areas.

Leg of lamb and ready-cooked hams are the top attraction in some sections, while steaks generally have been marked up after last week's fare bargains.

Egg prices, already scraping bottom, have been cut another 1 to 4 cents a dozen over a wide area.

Although vegetable prices generally are a shade higher, bargains include potatoes, celery, cooking greens, spinach and iceberg lettuce from Arizona and California fields.

You can get good buys, too, in sweet potatoes, turnips, broccoli, artichokes, eggplant, and, escarole, romaine and big Boston lettuce, peas, squash and sweet corn. New cabbage also is a good bet.

Asparagus is marked up this week because the big California crop is dwindling and New Jersey's crop is only starting to move in large volume. Higher price tags are reported for cucumbers, beans, onions and beets.

With the citrus season slowing down, these fruits are a bit more expensive.

Council Session

YOUNGVILLE — At Council meeting Tuesday evening, with the Burgess and borough council members all accounted for, a contract from Hill and Hill Engineers, with a letter from Mr. Harvey explaining the need for modifying the sewage system in the near future were referred to Solicitor Knox Harper.

Council is also prepared to apply to the Housing Administration for funds for the project. Although no immediate action is anticipated, realization that the Brokenstraw is classed as clean stream makes it likely that sewage treatment will be demanded. Council decided to be prepared to participate.

Five building permits were issued with $61,946 in construction planned, $52,000 of which is the EUB Educational building.

Burgess Crippen reported a recent trip to North East where he observed fluoridation equipment in operation. It was noted that water is tested in five different places daily to assure that no natural fluorine is present. Processing companies were contacted before fluoridation was introduced with no objections made. All are using fluoridated water at the present time.

In the matter of establishing a Park Commission of town citizens, the Burgess was informed by council that the present park committee was able to function without any change.

It was also decided to have stickers noting holiday parking regulations attached to parking meters.

Councilman Nelson reported that attention had been given to a possible Island Park location for tennis courts and one section near the horse barns had been staked off. However, it was felt that this might interfere with Fair activities and further investigation will be made. The inclusion of tennis courts and ice rink will add greatly to recreational facilities.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Cleveland Thompson of Pittsburgh, convicted of murder 10 years ago, has been denied another appeal for a stay of execution.

Thompson, who is scheduled to die May 4, was convicted in the slaying of bartender Wallace Russell during an attempted holdup in the city's Hill District.

Judge Joseph P. Willson of U.S. District Court, who turned down the plea Wednesday, said Thompson's petition "merely recites conclusions without setting forth facts not already ruled on."

Thompson asked for the stay of execution so he could present what he called new evidence. He has had 14 reprieves.

GREENSBURG, Pa. (AP) — A Westmoreland County grand jury Wednesday indicted Charles H. Brewer, 27, of Jeannette, for murder in the fatal beating of his 2-year-old step-daughter.

Brewer is charged with beating Agnes Elizabeth Clemens with his fists and a stick in their apartment last January. The girl died later in a hospital.

Brewer's wife, Bertha, also was indicted Wednesday for neglect of the child.

ALTOONA, Pa. (AP) — Total employment at the Altoona Works of the Pennsylvania Railroad was at 7,000 today after some 500 furloughed workers were recalled.

Brighten a Corner for Home Gardener

BY KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

The shock that greets the householder each spring is the mysterious deterioration which has taken place in garage or tool shed where gardening supplies are stored.

Where is the rake? What happened to the trowel? Who spilled the grass seed?

Those questions firm the determination to eliminate the clutter as the first step toward order and more enjoyable gardening.

For some, this will be a family project with all pitching in. Other homemakers, however, will make greater progress in the move to weed out junk and tidy-up if they go it alone, or employ the paid help of a strong boy to move heavy objects.

The latter course seems to work best in our family.

IF YOU HAVE a small storage closet-and-carpot arrangement, space is limited and must be carefully utilized.

Shelves on which to put things in an orderly fashion will be of great help in a storage closet or garage.

There are steel shelving units, ready-made, which are strong, easily assembled and not very expensive. These are free-standing units.

Shelves made from pine boards and attached by metal shelf brackets to the wall can be placed to meet requirements of space and materials. Four to six shelves, each about six feet long, should provide enough space for the average gardener.

First clean-up step is to go through your winter-stored things.

Put discards in one pile, rummage sale material in another. Some items, still good but no longer used, such as outgrown tricycles or wagons, may be sold through a classified ad.

IF THE GARAGE doubles as storage closet for all kinds of things—from winter sports equipment to screens and children's vehicles—take out one area for garden supplies.

Gardener's corner in the garage features homemade shelves. Pesticides are kept on top shelves, out of youngsters' reach. Homemaker is attaching spray bottle to hose.

When you or your helpers put up shelves, put the lowest shelf high enough to allow storage on the floor for buckets, trash barrel, watering cans, hose reels and other similar equipment.

White-painted shelves look neat and make stored objects easier to spot. Check supplies of insecticides, fertilizers, fungicides and so on. Check the garden tools, too.

Farmers' Group Openly Protests Labor Legislation

The board of directors of the Warren County Farmers' Association, at a meeting Wednesday night, took action to help block legislation which would place Pennsylvania farmers under the domination of the State Secretary of Labor and Industry.

The local board this week was in the process of contacting all state officials from this area, advising them that House Bill 1204 in an extremely dangerous legislative proposal.

The Bill, entitled "Wage and Hour Act," would force farmers to pay all employees at least $1.25 an hour and would limit them to a 44 hour week. This would include the farmers' own children who receive pay or allowances for work done on the farm.

If more than 44 hours work was done, the farmer would be forced to pay $1.90 for all hours over 44 hours.

The local Farmers' association President, Axel Carlstrom, of Akeley, said that the association was opposing the Bill on a "no compromise" basis. "This Bill," he said, "would give the State Secretary of Labor and Industry so much power and authority that virtually every farmer in the state would be ruled by one man."

Sections Six, Seven and Eight of the Bill would empower the Secretary of Labor and Industry to appoint a wage board of his own choosing for the purpose of investigating health and living standards of all employees, farm or otherwise, and after the first year he would be empowered to set wage rates at any level he chooses, as long as they are not lower than $1.25 an hour.

"We know this Bill is so far out of line that it can't be passed in its present form," said the local President. "But we also know that The Department of Labor and Industry and the labor unions are trying to establish the principle that the wage and hour act should be applied to agriculture."

"We won't compromise because of the principle involved. Not until someone has learned to control the sun, rain, insects and other conditions which govern farmers, can we permit ourselves to be governed by a 44 hour week."

"The principle involved here is that certain government officials believe that farmers can ignore the weather and limit their work week to 44 hours. They don't seem to understand that agriculture is governed by various Acts of God, and that regardless of man-made laws, the laws of nature will continue to prevail."

The Pennsylvania State Grange, The farmers' Association, together with all farm commodity groups, cooperatives as well as agricultural businesses and industries were lined up solidly in opposition to passage of the Bill.

FERRY RESUMES
Jamestown Sun: When the Ramus Point-Stow ferry slipped into the waters of Chautauque Lake Wednesday it carried passengers intent on bringing to an end, the career of the 147-year-old institution. The passengers were engineers who conducted underwater tests to determine the feasibility of bridging the lake at the narrows where the ferry operates. The underwater surveys are being conducted by the firm of Deleuw, Cather and Brill of New York City which has been authorized by the County Board of Supervisors to spend $6,000 to determine if the lake floor will support a bridge. The engineers expect to know by Friday if a $1,250,000 toll span can be erected. If the answer is yes, the days of the ferryboat are numbered.

N. Y. Association Provides Data on 'Operation Help'

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

In a recent column reporting on "Operation Help"—Hawaii's successful adaptation of an idea of mine for the prevention of juvenile delinquency—I referred you for material on its organization and functioning to the Children's Bureau, U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare in Washington.

This was my mistake. According to the Children's Bureau, it possesses neither the kind of detailed information on "Operation Help" I thought it had—nor the staff to handle the numbers of inquiries it has received. I am sorry to have misled you and ask your forgiveness for the trouble and confusion you've been put to.

But I can definitely assure you that more adequate information on "Operation Help" has now been made available by the National Probation and Parole Association, 1790 Broadway, New York 19, N.Y.

In its March issue of the NPPA NEWS, it is featuring a report on "Operation Help" by Gerald B. Burnett, community services director of the Honolulu Advertiser and member of the Territorial Commission on Children and Youth.

Burnett, after reading my original columns proposing a family emergency service, took the idea to his local police chief, juvenile court judge and director of public welfare. With their co-operation he organized it into "Operation Help"—Honolulu's now flourishing program for control of family conflict before it explodes into social defiance and crime.

Burnett's firsthand account of its development and mechanics can be had by writing the National Probation and Parole Association and enclosing the sum of 35 cents—the price of its bimonthly publication.

I hope you'll write for it—and not allow my first misdirection to discourage you.

The National Probation and Parole Association is our leading agency in the field of the prevention, control and treatment of delinquency and crime. One of its top assignments is the counseling of American communities on the improvement of their local prevention services.

Thus it is especially qualified to introduce Honolulu's working experiment in prevention to you through Burnett's eyewitness story. Later, the NPPA will interpret "Operation Help" to us in even greater detail.

pound on an alternate proposal to the Kinzua dam. This would be to divert flood waters of the upper Allegheny River into Lake Erie.
Army engineers just recently rejected Morgan's latest proposal on grounds that the authorized project would be more economical.
O'Neill, however, maintains the Morgan plan — which would include three smaller dams—all located in New York state—would cost only $2 to $5 million dollars and would flood an area much smaller section of the Seneca's reservation.

ness connection with Arias was the actor replied: "A shrimp company. It's not just he and I — there are other people in it. But he's a big stockholder."
Officials showed newsmen the letter, dated in April and signed "Duke," Wayne's nickname. It inclosed an interoffice memo to Wayne from Robert D. Weesner covering a schedule of funds involved in business transactions with Arias.
Police said circular felt shoulder patches bearing the number 22 were found in a utility bag, apparently left behind when the rebels fled to escape capture. It was assumed the rebels were trying to start a "May 22" revolutionary movement—taking the name from the date a year ago of bloody clashes between students and government forces.
NEW YORK (AP)—Famed ballerina Margot Fonteyn has side-stepped all questions about her Panamanian husband, accused of fomenting a revolutionary plot in his native land. She says she does not even know where he is.
Dame Margot, prima ballerina of Britain's Royal Ballet, arrived here by plane Wednesday from Miami, Fla., being flown there after Panama ordered her expelled following 24 hours detention.
Her husband, Roberto Arias, 43, was being sought around Santa Clara in Panama, where officials claim he brought an armed band ashore Sunday night.

They also seized her companion Doug Harrison, 62.
For six long hours they kept police at bay by threatening the couple. After surrendering, Werner and Wright paid tribute to Mrs. Gschwend's courage.
Werner said the Vacaville institution is "no place for human beings. It's for nothing but nuts."

Brooks Hays Is Picked For Position on T.V.A.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Brooks Hays, Democratic former congressman from Arkansas has been picked by President Eisenhower for the board of directors of the Tennessee Valley Authority.
Hays was a central figure in efforts to settle the Little Rock school integration dispute. Regarded as a moderate on school integration, Hays was defeated for re-election by Dale Alford, an outspoken opponent of school integration.
Hays will be nominated to fill the remainder of the TVA term of Frank J. Welch, who resigned. The term expires May 18, 1960. The position pays $20,000 a year.

at this stage.
Kennedy said the senators who lauded McClellan's amendment most Wednesday "are those who always have voiced against the interests of the working man."
The provision which would hurt labor most in McClellan's "bill of rights," Kennedy said, is one which would open union membership lists to the public at the request of any candidate for union office.

"I never negotiate with anyone: we were here to get them out and restore order."
The troopers drove the malcontents from the first to third floor of a wing of the prison, like soldiers assaulting pill boxes. They opened steel doors with acetylene torches and finally pushed the rebels into an area from which there could be neither escape nor retreat.
Surrenders were accepted only after the prisoners stripped naked. Then they were marched to secure quarters.
A pistol, with which Martin subjugated the hostages and marched them to the segregation section, was not immediately found.

Boehm and his aides promised to work out the new fees and report back to the committee.
Boehm said the department might be able to chop 2½ million dollars from a request for 3½ millions for funds in connection with the National Defense Education Act.

Dulles

(From Page One)
But Eisenhower keeps in touch with Dulles regularly by telephone. The designation of the former Cabinet member to a consultative post should be at least a morale booster.
Technically, Dulles becomes a member of the White House staff. James C. Hagerty, the President's press secretary, said Dulles will have Cabinet rank and will be paid $20,000 a year, $3,000 less than as secretary of state.
The swearing-in ceremony was in the suite Eisenhower himself had occupied at the time of a major intestinal operation in 1956.
Looking on at the ceremony were Vice President Richard M. Nixon; Herter, Mrs. Dulles; Allen W. Dulles, a brother and head of the Central Intelligence Agency; and C. Douglas Dillon, undersecretary of state for economic affairs.
In an exchange of letters when Dulles resigned, Eisenhower had announced his intention of keeping Dulles in service as a consultant.
Eisenhower at the time set out no specific task for the 71-year-old former secretary.
He did ask Dulles "to serve in the future, to whatever extent your health will permit, as a consultant to me and the State Department in international affairs."
Eisenhower expressed " fervent hope that you will thus be able to continue the important contributions that only you can make toward a just peace in the world."

Eisenhower wrote the letter April 16, a day after announcing at his Augusta, Ga. vacation headquarters that cancer had forced Dulles to resign.
Dulles ended a Florida rest on April 12 and returned to Walter Reed Hospital. Examining doctors said two days later the abdominal cancer which weakened Dulles probably had spread to his neck.
Christian A. Herter, in rapid-fire order, won Senate confirmation as Dulles' successor on Tuesday and was sworn in Wednesday as secretary.

Herter had been undersecretary of state.

Steel Official Hopeful Of Averting a Strike

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The board chairman of National Steel Corp., a former cabinet member, is hopeful the forthcoming steel industry wage talks can be settled without government intervention.
George M. Humphrey, former Secretary of the Treasury, said Wednesday it would be "most unfortunate" for the government to intervene in the contract talks.
He made the statement in answer to a question at the firm's annual stockholders' meeting and added:
"I just hope there will be no occasion for restrictions and that this case (the negotiations) will work itself out in an orderly fashion."
National reported a record net income for the third quarter of $16,504,080, equal to $2.20 a share, compared with $3,801,423, or 31 cents a share, in the same period of 1958.

Castro Says Cuba Is Independent of United Nations

NEW YORK (AP)—New York police, the FBI and other agencies were alerted today to what was termed a plot by hired killers to assassinate Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.
Castro has been in New York since Tuesday and is due to go to Boston Saturday. Hundreds of officers have been guarding him, and more were quickly assigned to the task.
Police said Castro aides had notified them of the alleged plot early today and said it involved two groups totaling seven men, none of them Cubans.

Thor Ballistic Missile With Capsule Is Fired

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force announced today the recovery of an information capsule ejected from a Thor ballistic missile. The missile was launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla., early this morning.
Fired on a 1,500-mile mission, the powerful 65-foot rocket was hurled skyward on what appeared to be a perfect launching at 12:30 a. m.
It was the 28th firing of the versatile Thor, the intermediate range ballistic missile which is both a war weapon and a booster for space probes.
SENATORS SPLIT VOTE
WASHINGTON (AP)—Pennsylvania's senators split in voting Wednesday for a bill-of-rights amendment to the Kennedy Labor Bill proposed by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.).
Republican Hugh Scott voted for the amendment. Democrat Joseph S. Clark opposed it. The Senate approved the amendment 47-46.

NEW YORK (AP)—Aides told police today of a possible plot to assassinate Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro while he is in the United States. Castro is now in New York.
The aides said they told the police the plot might be put into effect by "five brothers riding in a dirty gray Cadillac with Michigan plates" and "a sixth man driving a 1947 black Chevrolet with Florida plates."

Khrushchev Advised To Cut Down on Food-Drinks

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—A West German newspaper said today that doctors have strongly advised Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to cut down on his food—and drinks—or else.
The tabloid newspaper, 5-Uhr Blatt—Five O'Clock Bulletin—in a dispatch dated Moscow, said he suffered fainting spells on March 10, 19, April 3 and 7, followed by temporary blackouts.

The paper said doctors work on the theory that the Kremlin's top man may have a brain tumor but Khrushchev declines to submit to a thorough check-up.
PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A test run to check the political temperature of the West came to an abrupt end today for Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) as he flew to Washington.
Humphrey, a potential Democratic presidential nominee in 1960, said he was going to seek reconsideration on the Senate floor today of a bill of rights written into the Kennedy labor bill Wednesday.
But in Washington, observers questioned whether Humphrey's flight to Washington will accomplish its intended purpose. A motion to reconsider was tabled specifically to prevent a change of the vote.

Humphrey Suddenly Ends Political Trip

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower was reported determined today to increase the flow of missiles to NATO nations despite some strong Republican opposition.
GENEVA (AP)—U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth called on the Soviet Union today to revise its bargaining positions in order to get the three-power nuclear test suspension conference out of the doldrums.
LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—State Sen. Terry Carpenter told the Nebraska Legislature today he was reliably informed Gov. Ralph Brooks has suffered a cerebral hemorrhage. Carpenter said he understood the stroke is not serious enough to keep Brooks from performing the duties of his office.
WASHINGTON (AP)—Descendants of Union army veterans will give a special performance of "Dixie" for Walter W. Williams, the last of the Confederate veterans.
HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—Gov. Lawrence today welcomed 63 graduates of the Pennsylvania State Police Training School here into the force.
WASHINGTON (AP)—The election of national officers occupied the Daughters of the American Revolution today in a long day of balloting.

Growing Fear in Washington Iraq Will Be Red Satellite

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Many U. S. officials have about given up hope that the revolutionary government of Iraq can resist Soviet Communist domination. There is growing fear here that Iraq will soon become a hidden satellite of the Kremlin, if it has not done so already.
Since the Iraqi revolution last July 14, Premier Abdel Karim Kassam has become increasingly dependent on or allied with Communist support.
British and U. S. leaders are reported close to agreement that Kassam has probably gone beyond the point of no return.
The United States policy for dealing with this situation is one of waiting to see what happens. Officials interviewed privately say in effect, "What can any outsider do?"
Authorities are convinced that Egypt's President Nasser, whose goal is to become leader of the whole Arab world, has been behind a couple of attempts to stage some kind of anti-Communist bid for power in Iraq. But he has gotten nowhere.
As between Nasser and Kas-

Stan Just Holds His Ground; They Still Throw Strikes

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(NEA)—Stan Musial was swapping batting practice turns with Irv Noren shortly before opening day. He wiped the sweat off his face with his left sleeve and grinned: "You can hit too much. It doesn't do any good to hit when you're tired."

There were only a handful of Cardinals around. The bulk of the squad had taken off for a game in Bradenton. Stan the Elder is excused from practice jaunts. Larry Jackson was throwing them up, and The Man had just finished a half hour of solid hitting.
He was relaxed and felt like talking. When Musial talks about hitting you listen.

"I ALWAYS WANTED to hit .300 in the majors," he mused, "when I was a kid. In the minors I used to stand straight up, like this," and Musial struck an erect pose.
"But up here they have that extra little zip on the fast ball so I felt I had to guard the plate more and punch the ball. That's how home I developed my little crouch."
"In those days, I could pull the outside pitch to right. Now if I try to pull the same pitch, it's just a long out to center field. So I'm back where I started, punching the ball again like when I was a kid. I'm going to try to hit to left more this year—can't snap the bat like I used to."

MUSIAL DEMONSTRATED. "This," he said, "is the pull swing." He swung the bat on an even plane across his chest.
"I want to hit the ball any place, so when I'm standing at the plate waiting for the pitch, I'd rather keep my arms loose."
He showed how he lets the bat glide across his knees in a low arc as he gets set to hit.
He was asked if his stance had been changed as he got older.
"I didn't feel old," he grinned pleasantly, "until last year."
"I never changed my stance. They still have to throw strikes, and if I moved around at the plate, my judgment of the strike zone would change."

"YOU LEARN TO HIT according to the park you're in. At Ebbets Field, you pulled to right field. At the Polo Grounds you stayed away from right and left center. In the LA Coliseum you got to go to left field. I bounced a lot of singles off that wall last year."
"That's where the good hitters have an advantage. A guy like Bille would hit those long flies to left center in St. Louis. He couldn't pull. Some fellows just can't change. They hit with the fat of the bat, but it's just an AB."
"Old guys like me, they try to pitch as tight. But I can even hit an inside pitch to left."
In the cage, Noren signaled he had enough and motioned The Man to step back in.
After Musial started hitting again, Jackson threw one that he popped futilely against the roof of the batting cage.
Musial walloped the next pitch on a dart through the middle. Jackson ducked and threw up his hands. Musial threw his bat toward the dugout.
"Gotta run around the park now," he said, "shower, have a couple of Buds and go out on the beach and get a little sun."
The Cardinals would be playing baseball all afternoon.
"Sometimes," Stan Musial winked, "it's good to get old."

Sometimes Housewives Can't Win, Try as They May

It's hard for a housewife these days to win the admiration of other women or even to feel within herself that she is successful as a wife and mother.
If she makes her family her whole life other women claim she isn't doing her share of community work.
If she goes in for club work there are those who criticize her for neglecting her family.
If she holds down a job in addition to being a homemaker she reads article after article on the "are working mothers contributing to juvenile delinquency?" theme.
If she doesn't earn a pay check she secretly wonders if she shouldn't be helping out so that her children could have more advantages.
If she is an excellent cook her friends complain about the number of calories she is putting before them.
If she works hard at being a good mother, she is told that she is overprotective.
If she takes motherhood lightly she is accused of never knowing where her children are or what they are up to.
If she concentrates on being a good housekeeper she is warned that her husband needs a companion more than he wants a perfectly kept house.
If she neglects the house to be a companion to her husband and children she is accused of being lazy.
There is just no way for today's housewife to beat the guilty feeling that she is failing at her job.

Bluth Pulls Through in Masters

Webb Scores 4th Round Victory Over Neal Rivers

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Slashing Spider Webb has spun himself into a corner as far as the midweight title is concerned. Webb won his 33rd victory against only 4 defeats Wednesday night with a fourth-round technical knockout off Neal Rivers, but it got him nowhere in his pursuit of Sugar Ray Robinson's 160-pound championship.

Webb carved Rivers into bloody submission in 1 1/2 of the fourth round in their scheduled TV 10-rounder.

With mystery surrounding Robinson's future plans concerning a middleweight title defense, Webb apparently must sit out in the bleachers and wait for something to happen.

If Robinson, under court pressure, decides to defend his title, his opponent obviously will be Carmen Basilio, the man he defeated March 25, 1958.

If Robinson is stripped of his title the National Boxing Assn. will call for an heir-apparent match between Basilio and Gena Fulmer, the winner to meet third-ranked Webb.

In the third round of Wednesday night's one-sided match Webb floored his Las Vegas, Nev. foe for an eight count with a sizzling right to the head. Rivers however climbed back on his feet and exploded a right flush to the chin which sent Webb reeling from the middle of the ring into the ropes.

Webb shook off the desperation puch grinned and continued to carve Rivers' gory visage.

Webb, a 4-1 favorite, weighed 158 and Rivers 159.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — After living in the shadow of two teammates for years, Ray Bluth of the St. Louis Budweiser team, came into his own Wednesday night when he won the American Bowling Congress Masters Tournament.

Bluth's previous accomplishments have been obscured by two of bowling's premier stars, Don Carter and Tom Hennessey. Major titles always seemed to elude the 31-year-old Bluth.

Bluth whipped six straight opponents in the double elimination finals which began last Sunday. His opponent in the last round, Billy Golembiewski, also was undefeated until he met Bluth in a match Wednesday afternoon. Bluth took the crucial four game duel, 864 to 782, dumping the Detroit bowler into the losers bracket.

Golembiewski then trounced Hennessey, the defending Masters champion 900-849 winning the right to meet Bluth again in the championship match. Hennessey took third place.

Golembiewski took the first game in the ultimate block, 201-191, the second 207 to 196 and the third 234 to 227. Bluth was behind 23 pins, but he rallied and won the last game 213 to 175 and the match 827 to 817.

Bluth picked up $1,210 and the huge Masters traveling trophy.

Pirates Showing Their 1958 Knack In Winning Games

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates are showing their 1958 knack of coming from behind to snatch one-run decisions.

And Manager Danny Murtaugh appears to have lost none of his ability to do the right thing at the right time which helped the Bucs win 30 one-run games last year while losing only 18.

The combination clicked again Wednesday night, helping the Pirates to a tinging 8-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds and lifting them out of the National League basement.

The Pirates were handcuffed by their old jinx, Joe Nuxhall, on one hit over the first six innings.

They were trailing 7-0 when they came to bat in the seventh, but a rally in which Bill Virdon smacked a three run homer and pinchhitter Ted Kluszewski delivered a two-run single tied the score.

Cincinnati went ahead in the eighth on Gus Bell's homer.

But Murtaugh pulled some more magic out of his bag and sent Danny Kravitz in to hit for reliever Roy Face. Kravitz singled and advanced to third as Frank Robinson fluffed Virdon's attempted sacrifice. Bob Clemente was walked intentionally and Roman Mejias was walked by accident, forcing in the tying run.

Then Rocky Nelson, up to bat for Stuart who had been lifted for a pinchrunner in the eighth, singled in the winning run.

Frank Thomas, playing for the first time in his home town since he was traded to the Reds, drove in three runs with a double and a foul fly.

Bob Friend, seeking his first victory against two defeats, was shelled from the mound during the Reds' six-run rally in the third. He gave 6 runs on 6 hits in two full innings, failing to get out any of the six batters he faced in the third.

Roy Face, who came on for the Bucs in the eighth, picked up his first victory against no defeats. Orlando Pena suffered his first loss without a victory.

Glittering Cast Of Performers For Drake Relays

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—The Drake Relays open their golden anniversary show Friday with a glittering cast of track and field performers.

Two Olympic champions, Glenn Davis and Bobby Morrow, will appear in a special 440-yard dash. In the same race will be Dave Mills, the spectacular Purdue freshman who twice defeated Davis only last Saturday, and Willie Atterbury, Michigan State's scholastically ineligible speedster.

Davis, former Ohio State University star, is the world record-holder in the 440 at .457.

Morrow, he former Abilene Christian flyer who won the 100 and 200-meter sprints in the 1956 Olympics, will be taking his first shot in an open quarter mile.

The AAU 440 is one of four events likely for new records.

The others are the AAU 100, the javelin throw, which has Bill Alley of Kansas, who bettered the American mark with a toss of 270 feet, 1 1/2 inches at the Texas Relays, and the university four-mile relay.

Tournament of Champs Starts At Vegas Today

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Las Vegas' most respected sports event, the $40,000 Tournament of Champions, gets underway today with a crack field of 26 golfers.

The betting favorite in the 72-hole, seventh annual event was Gene Littler of San Diego, who captured the $10,000 top money on successive years starting in 1955.

Latest figures on Littler were 5-1, while the "morning line" on Art Walls, Jr., recent Masters champion, and Arnold Palmer, the 1958 Masters ruler, quoted at 6-1.

Cary Middlecoff and Billy Casper, Jr., the latter runner-up here last year, were listed at 8-1.

Littler's victories at the Phoenix and Tucson Opens this winter qualified him for this event, while Walls, the hottest golfer in the game today, won five tournaments dating back over the past 12 months and through the Masters earlier in April.

Paul Harney, the long hitter from Worcester, Mass., had the lowest practice round, a 66, Wednesday. Next low was a 68 the day before by young Gary Player of Johannesburg, South Africa.

Oval Near Youngsville Opens Season Sunday

It'll be a jump on the racing season Sunday when Three Point Race Way opens the stock car action with a 13-event card.

Located mid-way between Youngsville and Corry on Route 6, the half mile dirt track has just been completed for the season. Banked turns, for example, were added to the track.

These turns would let the average car slide off. Management said it is an interesting challenge for stock car enthusiasts.

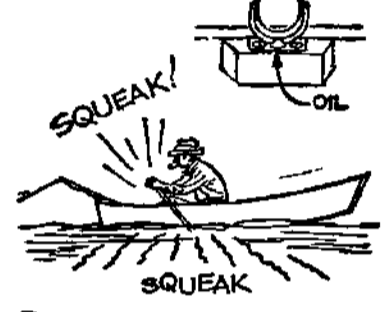

Fred and Elve Sivi, managers, have both driven in races. Mrs. Sivi, after getting her driver's license, became interested in stock car racing and has been a top winner in competition.

Sunday's action includes a prelim at 1:00 of quarter-midgets. The regular event will begin at 2:30. Other events at the track this season will be powder puff races.

Racing around the dirt oval will be stock jalopies, from 1948 and back; modern stock 1949 to 1953 inclusive; and the fast bombs modified cars. There are no limits to modifications on car or engine at Three Point Way—"everything goes".

Children under 16 will be admitted free at all races, if accompanied by a parent. "Rain date is always the following Sunday," Fred reminds.

By KEN ALYTA
PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—An intriguing age mixture ranging from a teen-ager to men in their 40s made up the field for today's quarterfinal round in the North and South Amateur Golf Tournament.

The two "babies" among the survivors of Wednesday's double round shelling will appear in an upper bracket match. Jack Nicklaus, a long-hitting 19-year-old from Columbus, Ohio, faced 20-year-old Don Essig of Indianapolis and Baton Rouge, La. Nicklaus will represent the U.S. on the Walker Cup team facing the British in three weeks at Muirfield, Scotland. Essig, a LSU student, won the National Public Links title two years ago.

Braves Once Again in Top Spot in League Standings

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Law Burdette has found his "at 'em" ball again. He misplaced it when he was unfrocked as a Yankee killer last October. It was the "at 'em" pitch—the pitch that made it easy on the fielders because batters hit it right at 'em—that the big right-hander credited when he won three from the New York Yankees as Milwaukee won the 1957 World Series. He still had it last season, when he became a 20-game winner for the first time.

Then he lost in last fall's World Series, twice taking his lumps while the Yankees staged a startling comeback by winning the last three games.

This season, Burdette has picked up where he left off last year, and so have the Braves, once more leading the National League. Burdette put them a game in front Wednesday night, giving up eight hits but outdueling Robin Roberts, who allowed only four, for a 2-0 victory over the Phillies.

Los Angeles fell out of a virtual tie for first as San Francisco ended the Dodgers' winning string at four 6-3. Pittsburgh came from behind twice and beat Cincinnati 9-8. That sprung the Bucs from the cellar.

jar and the St. Louis Cardinals dropped in, despite an 8-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

The Braves were held hitless by Roberts 1-1 until the seventh when consecutive singles by Wes Covington, Frank Torre and Del Crandall, who lined one off Robin's leg, broke the shut-out duel.

The Giants dropped the Dodgers with a five-run fifth against losing starter Carl Erskine 0-1. A walk, four singles and Orlando Cepeda's double did the damage. Jack Sanford (2-1) won it.

The Pirates, blanked on two hits for six innings by Joe Nuxhall, tied it in a seven-run seventh capped by Bill Virdon's three-run homer. Then, after Gus Bell gave the Reds a new lead with a solo homer in the eighth, the Bucs put it away against losing reliever Orlando Pena in the ninth on a bases-loaded walk and Rocky Nelson's single. Elroy Face (1-0) won it in relief.

Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell gave up five hits and won his second with a third consecutive complete game job this season for the Cards. Alex Grammas, Gino Cimoli and Curt Flood hit first-of-the-season homers for St. Louis. Taylor Phillips (0-2) lost it.

NFL Players Talk Pension Plan With Pro Owners Today

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Some sort of pension plan appears in the wood for National Football League players as they open two days of meetings today with pro owners.

A reliable source told The Associated Press that the talks among owners and the Players' Assn. should evolve some type of plan. It won't, however, be anything like the proposal presented at the NFL annual meeting under which players would receive $100 a month at age 65, the source asserted.

In addition to pension problems, the owners were scheduled to take up airplane insurance plans, check over television contract language, arrange for a quick shift of any league game conflicting with baseball's World Series, and consider a plea from Honolulu that the league sanction the island's Hula Bowl game.

YOUR RED CROSS

Left Side Is the Trigger

By DOW FINSTERWALD
PGA Champion

The swing is initiated by the left side. The left arm, shoulder, hip and knee start moving together at the outset. In unison they carry the club to the top of the swing.

At this stage the left side continues its dominant action by triggering the downswing through the transfer of weight back to the left side.

Since 90 per cent of golfers play right-handed, most of the power comes from the right hand. It would be wasted if not used properly. It is in this respect that the left hand performs its important function.

The hands go into action in the downswing when reaching the same level at which they begin to cock in the backswing. The objective at this point is to return the hands at impact to the same position they were in at the address.

The wrists are fully cocked. With the transfer of weight to the same position they were in at the address, the wrists are in position to start uncocking—the wrists to develop maximum clubhead speed.

Ford Goes 14 Innings To Shut Out Senators 1 to 0

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With Whitey Ford turning in one of the top performances of his pitching career—sticking to the mound through 14 hard-fought innings—the Yankees beat the Senators 1-0 Wednesday night.

The Washington battle finally was terminated by Bill Skowron's third homer of the year.

It was the first time in his major league career that Ford ever pitched so many innings and obviously gladdened the heart of Manager Casey Stengel over prospects for the remainder of the season.

That left the Yanks two games behind the clubbing Cleveland Indians, who again battered Detroit, 10-1. The Chicago White Sox stayed third, smothering Kansas City 20-6. Boston beat Baltimore 8-4.

Ford, 30, walked seven, but gave up just one single from the fifth until the 14th. Then, after Skowron had ended Stobbs' hitless relief job, Ford was touched for two hits before putting away his 13th victory over the Senators in 14 decisions going back to 1954.

Young Gary Bell (2-0) breezed in with a seven-hitter for the Indians, who have rapped Detroit pitching for 24 runs and 31 hits in two days. Jimmy Piersall drove in the first four runs off loser Frank Lary (0-2) with a bases-loaded single in the third and a two-run homer in the fifth. Rocky Colavito added a three-run blast, and rookie Gene Leek, playing his first major league game, socked a two-run homer.

The White Sox hustled from behind after the A's had chased Early Wynn with five runs in the second inning. They made it a rout with 11 runs in the seventh off three pitchers—needing but one hit while benefiting from 10 walks (one shy of the record), a hit batter and three errors. Bud Daley (0-2) lost it in relief. Bob Shaw (1-0) won it with 7 1/3 innings of three-hit, shutout relief.

The Red Sox wrapped it up with five runs in the fourth on four singles, a walk and an error against loser Arnie Portocarrero (0-2). Murray Wall (1-0) won it in relief.

Sluggish Vs. Boxer for Friday's Welterweight Title Ring Match

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Don Jordan, the still-hungry champion, puts his welterweight title on the line against erratic but dangerous Virgil Atkins Friday night in a revival of the ancient boxing argument of who's better—the slugger or the boxer.

The oddsmakers have done nothing to settle the argument. They are calling the fight even—5 to 6 and take your choice. Atkins, a somber and silent pincher, is ready for a desperate bid to regain the crown.

The 24-year-old champ is anxious to prove his December victory over Atkins in Los Angeles was no fluke. Jordan, part-Apache, and one of 19 children, has gathered in a little loof in the way of endorsements and appearances.

The fight is hard to figure because the career of the 31-year-old St. Louis fighter is so checkered. Atkins has been up and down all the way.

Jordan has won 44 of 55 fights, 15 by knockouts. Atkins has won 49 of 69, 29 by knockouts, with 19 defeats and one draw.

Tiger Manager Is Trying To Land Needed Slugger

DETROIT, Mich. (AP)—The Detroit Tigers, hungry to apply $100,000 in first aid to a battered team that lost eight of nine games are shooting in all directions for a much-needed slugger.

So far the Tigers have been rebuffed everywhere. General Manager Rick Ferrell said Wednesday night he has had unsuccessful trade talks with the Washington Senators, Baltimore Orioles and New York Yankees. He plans to try the Kansas City Athletics soon.

He said Washington had spurned his bid of $100,000 and a front-line pitcher for Roy Sievers. Sievers, an outfielder-first baseman, belted 39 home runs and drove across 108 runs for Washington last year. The Tigers, in losing all but one of their first nine games, have left 74 base runners stranded. They have hit only eight homers while their pitchers yielded 19.

Ferrell declined to name the pitchers he offered. But it was believed to be Jim Bunning, Paul Foytack or Billy Hoelt.

Griffith said in Washington the Chicago White Sox had offered him $250,000 in players and cash for Sievers, pitcher Pedro Ramos and an unidentified third player. This deal also was turned down.

Baltimore twice has refused Tiger attempts to pry loose catcher Gus Triandos. Ferrell ruled out further efforts to get Triandos.

The Yankees wanted pitcher Frank Lary or outfielder Al Kaline from Detroit, but Lary and Kaline are regarded as Tiger untouchables.

New York would have been willing to give up Marv Thronberry, Bobby Richardson, Hank Bauer, Norm Siebern or players of equal ability, Ferrell said.

★ GRAYSON'S SCOREBOARD ★

Patterson Road Show Is Badly Out of Focus

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Making the heavyweight champion the challenger, Cus D'Amato managed Floyd Patterson into obscurity. D'Amato turned Patterson into a road show, which now is more than ever out of focus.

D'Amato overnight digs up promoters nobody ever heard of. So, after signing with Bill Rosenzohn for Patterson to defend against Ingemar Johansson in New York, June 25, a really attractive match, D'Amato on March 18 suddenly announced that his tiger would warm up in a 15-round match with Brian London at Las Vegas, April 21.

The promoter was to be Cecil Rhodes, billed as a young steel executive out of Bayonne, N.J. Rhodes admitted that this was his first venture in the break-busting business.

CONTACTED IN LAS VEGAS, Beldon Kalleman, proprietor of El Rancho Vegas, speaking for the hotel men and Convention Bureau, said all he knew about the fight was what Joe E. Lewis, the entertainer, told him on the telephone.

When Rhodes finally contacted Kalleman, the date was moved back to May 1 to coincide with the television schedule. Now D'Amato and Rhodes say the fight will take place at the Indianapolis Coliseum. It probably will have to settle there. There hardly is time for it to finally wind up in Timbuctoo or, say, somewhere in Tibet, which is where it belongs.

RHODES' EXCUSE FOR quitting on Nevada was "there was intimation that Las Vegas money was behind the fight." Rhodes neglected to say when Las Vegas money became unacceptable in prize fighting, and Kalleman explains that it was just the other way around, anyway.

"What we wanted to know was just whose money was behind it," says Kalleman, "As far as we were concerned, Rhodes was an itinerant promoter without a license, a peddler without a product. He did not come to Las Vegas, nor did he head papers."

"While we didn't particularly want a fight involving Brian London, we were willing to co-operate financially to a reasonable extent, but the whole thing was off when Rhodes started talking $250,000 by long distance."

"We didn't like the fight or the date, which is the eve of the Kentucky Derby."

D'Amato's frantic matchmaking, the outgrowth of his one-man crusade against the late International Boxing Club, created another bewildering situation.

THE PRESENT MIX-UP dates back to last December, when Jack Solomons, IBC ally, matched London to box Henry Cooper in London, Jan. 12. D'Amato had Harry Levene, his private overseas promoter, guarantee the winner $70,000 for taking a crack at Patterson's crown in this country. When Cooper cut up London and won, he demanded $140,000. He was urged to do so by Solomons and that put him on D'Amato's blacklist.

Meanwhile, Eddie Borden, who books American fighters for Levene, signed Harold Carter, the New Jersey heavyweight, to engage London in London.

When D'Amato heard about it, he hit the roof. "Carter will kill him," shouted Cus. He roasted Levene for 45 minutes in a transatlantic telephone call which cost $180 and ended in the Carter match being canceled "because London had a bad back."

Now it's Indianapolis—provided enough money comes from somewhere.

Lawrence Talks To Leaders About Fiscal Program

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Lawrence envisions a new type of legislative lobby in Pennsylvania—one that would promote passage of the remainder of his 400-million-dollar new tax program.

And judging from the reactions of several top leaders in fields where the Commonwealth spends much of its money, he might well have such a lobby in the making.

Speaking before 70 leaders of school, health, welfare, mental health, coal research and tourists organizations, Lawrence declared Wednesday:

"Lobbyists oppose taxes—that's their business. But there never has been anybody here lobbying for taxes to pay the bills for what you need."

"People who are opposed to the tax program, quite naturally, are putting up the best case they can. If you go to work and get across the story of what your needs are, I believe we can win a reasonable time to get our tax program through."

Afterward, several of the organization leaders pledged support of the fiscal program.

Chase Facial Blots With Tender Probing

In the battle against blackheads, this girl uses a mirror and a strong light to search out the offenders. Then she attacks areas with hot water and a terry cloth.

BY ALICIA HART, NEA Beauty Editor

The best aids for ridding yourself of those unsightly blackheads that tend to collect in the oily areas of nose and forehead are a strong light, a good mirror and a bowl of steaming hot water.

The light and the mirror will show you just where you need to go to work. The bowl of hot water, plus a terry washcloth, is to help you steam out those little plugs of dirt that clog your pores. Because that's what they are. Dirt in the air and the oil in your skin mix, fill the pores and there you are.

After you have steamed the areas thoroughly, you can lift the offending blackheads out easily with a blackhead extractor. (These are available at any drug or department store.) Beauty experts take a dim view of using fingernails to pry out blackheads. Too often infection results from this. You may also break tiny blood vessels near the surface of the skin and wind up with a mottled nose.

State Schedules Payments Due to School Districts

HARRISBURG (AP)—The state has scheduled payment within the next few days of $64,743,108 in subsidies due First, Second and Third Class school districts.

And Gen. Charles C. Smith said Wednesday the money represents about 80 per cent of subsidies due the districts this month.

Walter Giesey, secretary of administration, reported the balance will be paid as soon as the Legislature clears deficiency appropriations. The requests will be submitted on Monday, he added.

Smith said his department agreed to partial payment "with the clear understanding that the balance of the money will be paid in the next few weeks."

He maintained that about 128 million dollars was available now in the state treasury enough to pay the $81,712,812.62 due the districts. The Public Instruction Department submitted the request for $64,743,108.

Governor Writes End to Outdoor Inaugurations

HARRISBURG (AP)—Future Pennsylvania governors will take over the reins of state government at indoor inauguration ceremonies under a new law signed by Gov. Lawrence.

The governor wrote an end to the tradition of outdoor ceremonies Wednesday by signing a bill to have the inaugurations held in the State Farm Show Building, providing an emergency didn't force a change of site.

Pressure mounted to move the ceremonies inside after Lawrence's inaugural was switched at the last minute to the Farm Show arena due to inclement weather. The state was left with a bill for outdoor facilities built on the Capitol steps especially for the inauguration.

Lawrence's action means that former Gov. Leader will have the distinction of being the last chief executive sworn in at outdoor ceremonies. That was in 1955.

Other bills Lawrence signed into law would:

Appropriate 2 1/2 million dollars in deficiency funds to reimburse county school boards for transportation of handicapped children.

Authorize borrowing of 5 1/2 million dollars from the school employees retirement fund to pay deficiencies in other funds.

Permit children 15 and 16 years old to take vocational training at approved trade or business schools rather than continue academic training at the age of 17.

Exempt from the motion picture projectionists' licensing act persons operating 16 millimeter or smaller projectors for non-theatrical exhibitions.

Strikes Against Newspapers Soar Almost to Record

NEW YORK (AP)—Strikes against American newspapers last year, a special industry committee said today, reached the second highest total since World War II and "if the record of 10 strikes in the first quarter of 1959 continues, this year will match the worst in the present century."

The report was made during final-day sessions of the 73rd annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Association by George N. Dale, chairman of the ANPA's Special Standing Committee on Labor Relations.

The four-day convention ends tonight with the annual dinner of the ANPA's Bureau of Advertising. Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy will be the principal speaker.

Dale said the near record number of 195—strikes against newspapers—38 strikes against 62 daily papers—came at a time when strikes generally throughout the United States reached the second lowest number since the end of World War II.

Dale also told the convention there was an unusual number of "short-duration strikes and unauthorized stoppages" in the newspaper industry last year, and added that "these stoppages reflected an attempt to substitute pressure for the orderly grievance and negotiating procedures."

Dale said the ANPA's special labor relations committee continued to encourage arbitration with unions "as the best final course to preserve harmony" and said "impending arbitration has prevented many strikes."

To Keep Marriage Happy Mind These Simple Rules

There are a few basic facts every woman should face if she hopes to keep her marriage happy through the years.

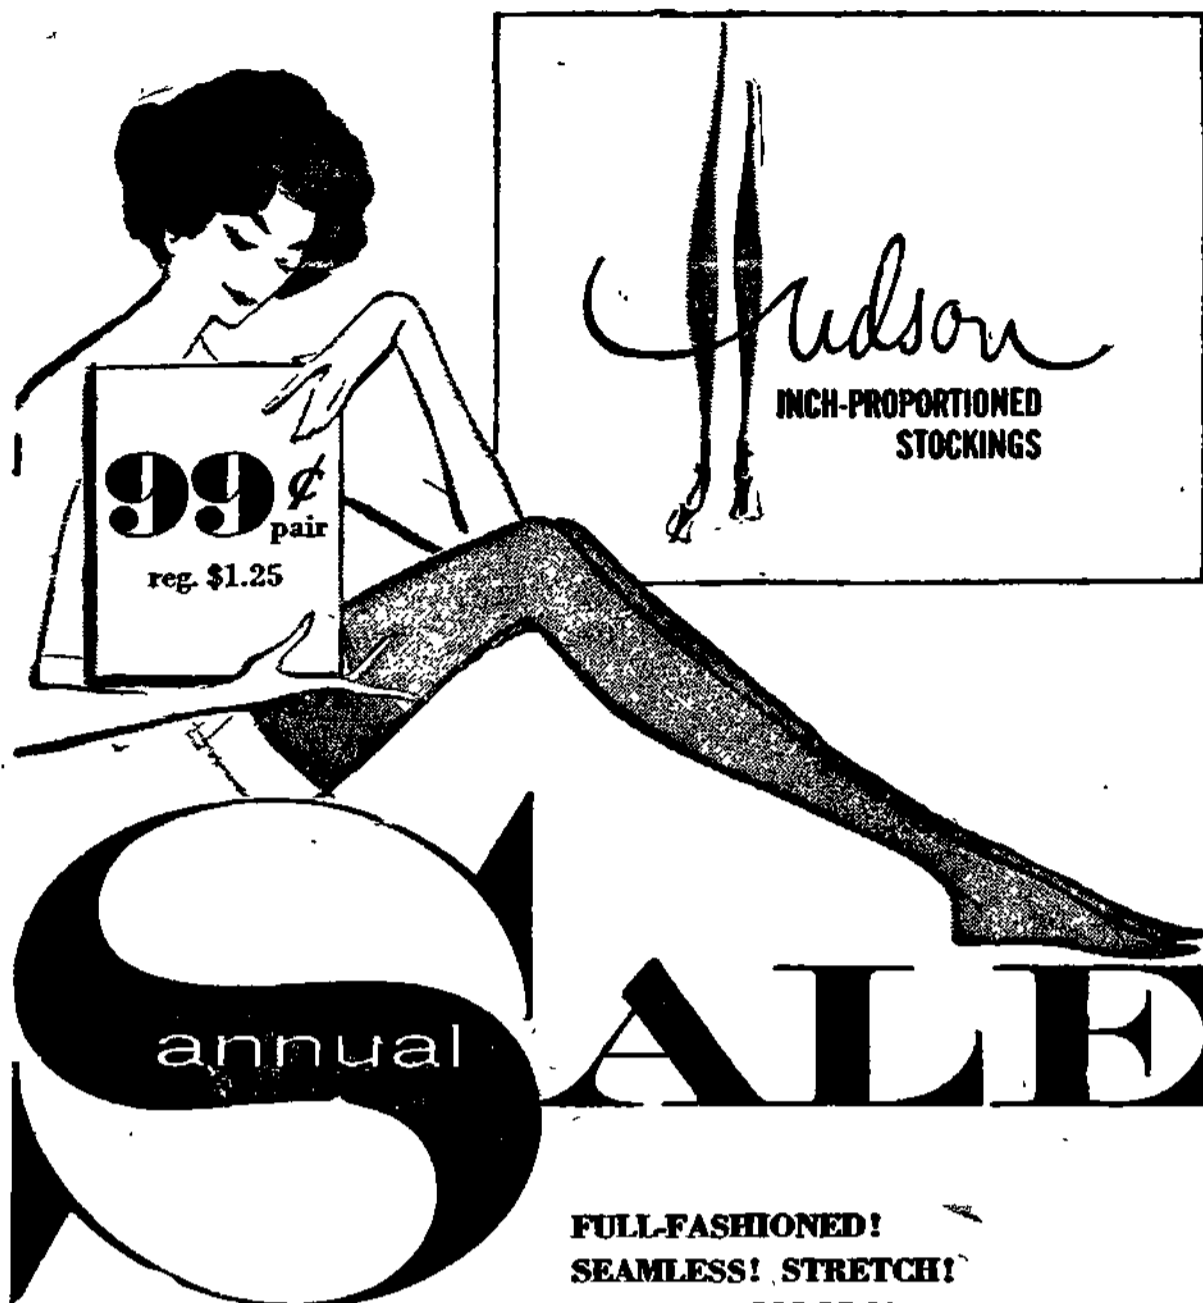

- There is no such thing as a perfect wife. If there were she would probably bore a man to death.
- Instead of trying to be the ideal of perfection, a woman should find what her husband considers essential to a happy marriage.
- No marriage is static. The woman who accepts the fact without regret is far better off than the woman who thinks the honeymoon should last forever.
- A woman can often manage by feminine strategy to get her own way, but if she makes a habit of outsmarting her husband she will soon have an unhappy marriage.
- Children enrich a marriage only if a wife never lets them become more important to her than her husband.
- Companionship between husband and wife depends more on the wife's adaptability than on the husband's. It is usually the wife who decides whether she is going to be a golf or hunting or fishing widow or whether she is going to be her husband's favorite partner in sports.
- Nothing does so much to keep a marriage happy through the years as enthusiastic plans for the future.

Needed is the continual joy of a home presided over by a happy woman who is adequate to the demands of homemaking, and friends who are mutually admired and enjoyed by both husband and wife.

Highest-Priced Sparring Partner in Boxing History

Special Dispatch From TOM CULLEN NEA Staff Correspondent

LONDON—(NEA)—With the date, May 1, rapidly approaching, the Floyd Patterson-Brian London match in Indianapolis was billed in London as the "heavyweight championship fight that never was."

Maybe Patterson knew what he was doing, but London was the original mixed-up kid. I talked to the British contender at his Blackpool home. He confessed that he did not know when he was flying stateside.

"All I know is what I read in the newspapers," he said.

LONDON PROFESSED TO BELIEVE that the arrangement were stalled because of the debate about television rights.

In England, the fight is being treated as the year's biggest joke. Sports writers opened a betting book on where the bout would be held with the site fluctuating daily from Las Vegas to Indianapolis by way of Colorado Springs. Some bets were laid that the match would not take place at all.

With so little time remaining, London could not possibly get in shape to meet Patterson on May 1, it was argued. Brian denies this.

"I HAVE BEEN TRAINING for a month," he said, "doing eight miles on the road every morning and boxing 10 rounds every afternoon. I am in the pink."

London hotly denied being used as a punching bag for Patterson's fight with Ingemar Johansson in New York, June 25.

"If this is a warm-up," he stressed, "I must be the highest-paid sparring partner in history."

The British Boxing Board ban on the fight was approved by the majority of English fans on the grounds that London is not the reigning British heavyweight, hence not entitled to a crack at Patterson's crown. Henry Cooper beat London badly in January.

London does not believe he will lose his license at home for defying the British board.

"I CAN ALWAYS FIGHT in the States or on the continent, anyway," he said.

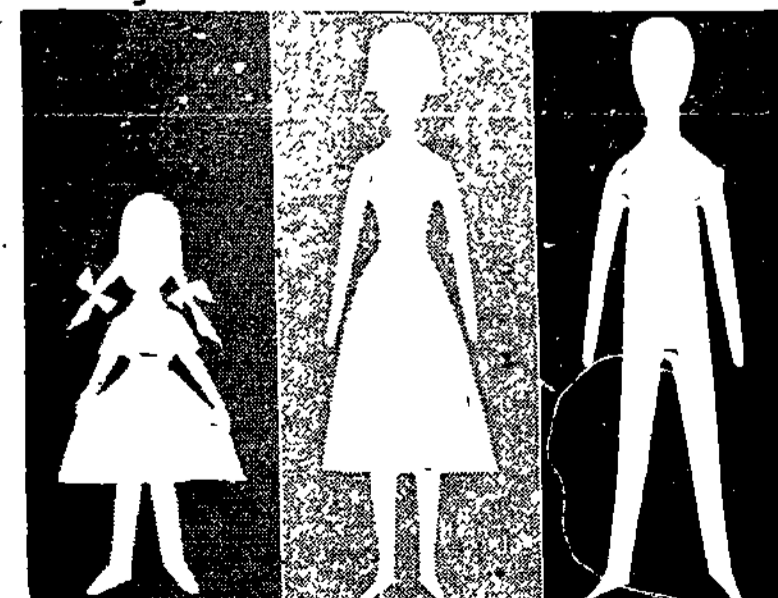

Asked if he planned to retire after the Patterson party, London pointed out that he was only 24 and had not yet reached his maturity.

Brian London's $75,000 guarantee for fighting Floyd Patterson is more than he could earn in 10 fights in England.

"I am boxing for cash and a fight like this will put my wife and me on easy street," he concluded.
